NEGRO QUESTION COMES TO FRONT

Bryan Would Censure the Brownsville Affair.

Towne Boom Now Launched; McClellan Boom Started.

DENVER, July 3.—This is the first of the four "arrival" days for the Democratic national convention; Monday will be the last. Then the performers for the "big show" will be here, and places to eat and sleep will be as scarce and valuable as tickets for the residents of Denver to the convention hall. The delegates will have the tickets—five each, the residents will have a "corner" on food and slumber.

The prospective permanent chairman of the convention, Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, arrived just before 9 o'clock this morning. He had been at Lincoln, conferring with Mr. Bryan.

Later in the day, but not less in importance, came the New York train, which had been speeding west under the limelight since Wednesday. It brought the last Democratic candidate for the Presidency, Alton B. Parker; also Leader Murphy of Tammany, as well as McCarren of Brooklyn, Francis Burton Harrison, another Vice Presidential possibility, and other notables of the New York democracy.

The Cleveland resolutions continued today to be the subject of consideration. The quick joinder of issue between the New Yorkers and the Bryan adherents yesterday, whereby it was made plain, through a plan announced by the Bryan people, that the convention would be given an opportunity first to simply deplore Mr. Cleveland's death without endorsing his political opinions, is regarded with satisfaction in many quarters.

The negro question may come to the front in the convention. Report has reached Denver that Mr. Bryan will be pleased to see incorporated in the platform a rebuke to the administration for the dismissal of the colored troops on account of the Brownsville, Texas, affair. Southerners who are on the field, however, are by no means friendly to the idea. As the story goes, the Nebraska candidate has recently been visited by representatives of the race, who have assured him that a very slight denunciation of the course of the administration in that matter would insure thousands of votes to the Democrats in the close or doubtful states of the North. He is represented as holding the opinion that the negro troopers should not have been discharged without honor until their guilt had been established by legal inquiry. The possible opposition of Southerners is expected to be strong.

The latest arrivals from Lincoln bring the information that in his draft of a plank regarding the writ of injunction in labor disputes, which continues the crucial point of discussion, Bryan is adhering to the lines laid down in the Nebraska platform, requiring notice to defendant and hearing by the courts, demanding that injunction trials shall be conducted by some judge other than the author of the writ, and permitting juries in certain other cases. But there are already suggestions of compromise. It is very evident that if some modification is not obtained the plank will be bitterly fought in committee, and probably on the floor of the convention.

The arrival today of John W. Kern of Indiana marked the coming of the second the Vice Presidential candidates, Charles A. Towne being the first.

There will be many Republican spectators at the convention, among them United States Senator Burrows of Michigan, who presided over the Republican convention at Chicago. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who witnessed the proceedings of the Republican convention, also is expected to be present. She and other visitors of the fair sex from outside states will receive marked attention from the women of Denver. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, Miss Grace Bryan and W. J. Bryan, Jr., children of William J. Bryan, will attend the convention.

Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, who is slated for the permanent chairmanship, arrived here today, following a conference with Mr. Bryan at Lincoln yesterday. Mr. Clayton is confident of a Democratic victory next November. Mr. Bryan himself believes the cause of Democracy never has been brighter, nor had such a hold on the people, and he feels assured of the party's success. Mr. Clayton says the injunction plank will be so drawn as to leave no room for doubt as to where the Democratic party stands. It is a mistaken idea, he said, that the labor leaders are clamoring for a radical declaration which will, in effect, align the party against the judiciary of the country. All they want is fair and reasonable legislation, which will retire the right of notice in injunction proceedings which was provided for on the statute books for 70 years preceding the codification of the laws in 1878. "There is no question in my mind," said Mr. Clayton, "that the large majority of the labor organizations will be satisfied with the plank as it will be finally adopted by the convention."

According to a placard posted in the hotels at an early hour today, George B. McClellan, mayor of New York city, is a candidate, and presumably for the Presidency. The placard was not specific on that point, but merely announce dthat Mr. McClellan's headquarters were to be found at certain apartments in the Brown Palace Hotel. A hasty search failed to locate the sponsors of the boom, but New Yorkers who were seen professed ignorance as to any movement in Mr. McClellan's favor.

The boom of Charles A. Towne of New York for secondp lace on the ticket was formally launched today. Headquarters were opened in the Savoy Hotel, in charge of Don Farnsworth of Chicago.

BURNED TO DEATH OR BADLY MANGLED

Hundreds Shut in Russian Mine by Fallen Earth.

Injured Mad from Shock, and Dying from Their Wounds.

YUSOVO, European Russia, July 3.—Fire broke out today in the Rikovsky mine, which yesterday was the scene of an explosion of gas which resulted in a very heavy loss of life. The work of rescue and fighting the fire was conducted under the greatest difficulties. Over 200 men remain in the mine, shut in by fallen earth, and their fate is unknown. One hundred and sixty bodies have already been brought out. Many of the men were burned to death, while others had their heads and limbs torn off by the force of the explosion. Seventy-five wounded were removed to hospitals, and of these ten have expired and many more are dying. It is believed that the present number of dead will be increased by 75.

The explosion occurred just after the night shift entered the mine, at half-past seven in the evening. The last 20 men of the shift were still in the cage at the bottom of the shaft, and they were drawn to the surface, uninjured. Rescue parties were at once organized, and commenced to go down. Six of the rescuers were suffocated, but the others bravely continued at work.

In the meanwhile the 5,000 miners who had gathered at the head of the shaft became so excited that troops had to be summoned. They cleared the ground, and today allow only members of the families of the victims to come within the cordon. Heart-rending scenes are witnessed as the mangled bodies of the dead men are brought to the surface and given over to the bereaved women. Many of the wounded are quite mad from shock. The cause of the explosion is not known.

CHRIST CHURCH WINS FINALS.

Race With Eton for Grand Challenge Cup a Splendid One.

HENLEY, July 3.—This was the last day of the Henley regatta, and interest in the finals drew out a better attendance than on the previous days. The finals for the Grand Challenge cup evoked much enthusiastic attention. Eton and Christ Church rowed, and after a splendid race the latter won by one and one-half lengths. The weather today continued beautiful.

The finals for the Diamond Sculls resulted in a victory for A. G. McCulloch, who defeated A. A. Stuart, a brother of the Cambridge stroke. McCulloch won easily in the slow time of 8 minutes, 25 seconds. McCulloch is a young Oxonian. He will be one of Great Britain's representatives in the Olympic sculling matches.

BRYAN PROFFERS THE OLIVE BRANCH

Hearst's Response Awaited Deepest Interest.

Parker Resolution Causes Scarcely Ripple in Lincoln.

LINCOLN, July 3.—That W. J. Bryan would have a busy day today was evidenced as early as 3 o'clock in the morning, when delegations en route to Denver began arriving on incoming trains. The delegates from many states are scheduled to reach here during the day, and in anticipation of the large influx of visitors Mr. Bryan took advantage of a comparatively quiet evening to retire early and secure a good night's sleep.

The topic which became of keen interest was Mr. Bryan's defense in today's Commoner of William R. Hearst and his Independence party. While the article is not given more than second-page prominence, it is considered significant by many persons that he should at this time take up and defend Mr. Hearst's attitude and sincerity. Delegates who are willing to express themselves on the subject believe Mr. Bryan is not only willing to make peace with the New York man, but will go so far as to make overtures to the end, in the event of his finding the Independence party leader in a receptive mood. One Kentucky delegate stated the belief that the result will be that the Independence party, when it holds its convention, will endorse Mr. Bryan for the Presidency, or possibly accept the whole ticket.

The wording of the article, which is entirely of an editorial nature, leaves little doubt that Mr. Bryan is in sympathy to a great extent with the reforms advocated by Mr. Hearst, and sums up the platform of Hearst in a manner which many persons say is purely in the way of extending the olive branch to Mr. Hearst.

The people of Lincoln are trying to give the reception to outside delegates visiting the city a touch of non-partisanship, and prominent Republicans, taking an appreciative pride in having for their chief private citizen the prospective Democratic candidate for President, are joining heartily in the movement to entertain the thousands who are making brief stays in Lincoln. Mayor Brown has asked the people of the city to aid in this entertainment. While there is a large reception committee, which gives its entire attention to this feature, its members will be joined during the next few days by committees appointed by the secret societies. The greater number of delegations to visit Lincoln will come Sunday, when delegates from no less than 20 states are expected to be in the city.

Following a day and evening of intermittent showers, during which the Democratic leader found it necessary to receive callers at a down-town hotel, the weather cleared during the evening and gave promise of more favorable conditions for the entertainment of callers today. The road to "Fairview" was soon dried out sufficiently to make it easy going for carriages and pedestrians.

Dewitt Clinton Dewitt, one of the delegates from Pennsylvania, today declared himself in favor of John Mitchell, the former president of the United States Mine Workers of America, for the nomination for Vice President. M. R. Dewitt said that he believes Mitchell could carry not only Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, but Pennsylvania as well.

The Parker resolution, which created a furore of excitement among Bryan's friends at Denver yesterday, created scarcely a ripple here. Local friends of Mr. Bryan generally were inclined to attribute the apparent thrusts at Mr. Bryan to unfortunate phraseology rather than to a deliberate attack on the part of Judge Parker. Mr. Bryan, after he had read the resolution, made a statement declaring that it required an explanation longer than he could make.

Greater interest was felt here concerning the conciliatory Hearst editorial, which became public when the Commoner appeared on the news stands. Mr. Bryan's defense of Mr. Hearst and the Independence League was regarded as a deliberate proffer of the olive branch—an invitation to the New York publisher to come back to the fold, to complete the restoration of harmony in the party. Mr. Hearst's response to this overture is awaited with the deepest interest. It is even hinted in some quarters that Mr. Bryan has been assured that such a concession by his party would meet with a prompt response from Mr. Hearst.

A report that Herman Ridder, publisher of the New York Staats Zeitung, would assault "Fairview" today with a proposition that Mr. Bryan withdraw from the Presidential race aroused marked interest. Trains arriving throughout the night were closely watched for the New York editor, but in vain. In this city, where Mr. Bryan is regarded as the strongest man in the party, no success was prophesied for Mr. Ridder's mission.

NO SLUR ON BRYAN INTENDED.

Judge Parker Too Fair a Man to Use Cleveland Eulogy as Cloak.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 3.—Asked for his opinion of the Parker resolutions to be presented at the Democratic national convention, Governor Haskell of Oklahoma last night said: "I cannot believe that Judge Parker meant to slur Mr. Bryan. The judge is too fair a man to use such a cloak as a eulogy of Mr. Cleveland to cover thrusts at Mr. Bryan.

JOCKEY CLUB BEING PAID?

Attorney Elder Says Officials Hinder Him at Every Turn.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Acting District Attorney Elder of Brooklyn said today that he is certain that bookmakers and racing men are paying the Jockey Club for the privilege of making bets at the tracks. Mr. Elder further declared that the officials of the Jockey Club, instead of aiding in the enforcement of the anti-betting laws have hindered his efforts at every turn.

ROOSEVELT AND THE FOURTH.

To Give House Party and Neighbors a Big Fireworks Display.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 3.—From the appearance of a number of big boxes containing fireworks, which were today taken from the railroad station to Sagamore Hill, President Roosevelt intends to have a pyrotechnical display in honor of Independence day which will be a rare treat. A jolly house party will be the guests of the President for the Fourth, and in the evening a large number of friends and neighbors will join the company and assemble on the broad veranda. If the weather permits, the brilliant display of fireworks will be set off by an expert sent out from New York. He will be assisted by sailors from the Mayflower.

In the village of Oyster Bay the Fourth promises to be rather quiet. The President will not make a speech this year to the townspeople, as he has done in other years.

No visitors are expected at Sagamore Hill today.

TEN ICE HOUSES BURNED.

Arctic Company's Loss at Assonet Estimated at $25,000.

ASSONET, Mass., July 3.—Ten large ice houses here, belonging to the Arctic Ice Company of Fall River, and from 10,000 to 12,000 tons of ice were burned this morning, as well as four cars, one loaded with ice, of the New Haven railroad. The fire was discovered about midnight, when one of the houses was all ablaze. The origin is supposed to be incendiary. The loss is estimated at $20,000 to $25,000, mostly covered by insurance.

STEAMERS REPORTED.

SABLE ISLAND, Nova Scotia, July 3.—Steamer New York, Southampton for New York, was reported by Marconi wireless 680 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 a. m., all well; will probably dock about 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

STEP TOWARD SUPREME COURT.

New Haven Road Ordered to Endorse Dividend Payment Guarantee.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 3.—A decree was entered in the superior court today by which the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company is ordered to endorse a guarantee of payment of dividends on the preferred shares of the New England Investment & Security Company, which is the holder of certain trolley properties in Massachusetts which formerly were owned by the New Haven company. The decree is a step towards taking the questions at issue to the supreme court of errors.

The case was that of Donald MacKay of Englewood; N. J. Latham A. Fish, George D. MacKay, G. Trowbridge Hollister and Frederick W. Kendrick, trustees, under the name of MacKay & Co., against the New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, the New England Investment & Security Company, and Charles S. Mellen, Nathaniel Thayer, C. F. Brooker, William Skinner, R. W. Taft, D. N. Barney and Frederick W. Kendrick, trustees, under the name of the New England Investment & Security Company.

The plaintiff had a certificate of stock of 22 preferred shares of the Investment company, and it was alleged that the railroad company, which had guaranteed payment of dividends, had refused to pay the dividends, because of a ruling of the Massachusetts courts which ordered the railroad company to give up control, direct and indirect, of trolley properties.

SHERMAN SOMEWHAT FATIGUED

Congressman Slept Well Following Demonstration in His Honor.

UTICA, N. Y., July 3.—Representative Sherman slept well following the demonstration given in his honor last night by his fellow-townsmen. Naturally he is somewhat fatigued by the trip home from Cleveland and in acknowledging the reception, but aside from that no ill effects have been experienced.

STRAUS ON INSPECTION TOUR.

New England Coast Lighthouses to Be Visited by Secretary.

BOSTON, July 3.—The lighthouse service all along the New England coast is to be personally inspected by Secretary Oscar L. Straus, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who left port today on board lighthouse tender Mayflower. Secretary Straus's tour will last about a month.

BAILEY STILL AT LARGE.

Taken Prisoner at La Ceiba, but Escaped During the Night.

PORTO CORTEZ, Honduras, July 3.—Francis G. Bailey is still at large, search for him carried on by soldiers in the woods and swamps near Porto Cortez having been successful. Lieutenant P. W. Beery, an officer who came down from New York, left here July 1 on board steamer Utstein, for New Orleans, with Albert W. Bailey, Charles P. Myers and Captain Oxley in custody.

Francis G. Bailey and his brother, Albert W. Bailey, left New York May 2 last, on steamer Goldsboro with goods and merchandise valued at $200,000, which it is alleged Bailey illegally obtained. The vessel went to La Ceiba, where she was seized and both the Baileys were arrested. The prisoners were placed on board steamer Utstein June 30, but during the night Francis G. Bailey succeeded in making his escape in a small boat, which later was found empty on the beach.

This Morning's News.

WELCOME SHERMAN HOME.

Thousands of People Give Candidate a Tremendous Greeting.

UTICA, N. Y., July 2.—Delegations from half a dozen cities and 10 towns joined in a tremendous greeting to Congressman James S. Sherman, whose home-coming was made the occasion of such a demonstration as has rarely been seen in this section of the state. The welcome to the Republican candidate for the Vice Presidency was a non-partisan affair and to a great extent personal, as the Congressman's recovery from his recent somewhat alarming illness gave added reason for a public rejoicing upon his safe return.

Mr. Sherman, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman and Dr. Carter, reached here on the New York Express from the West at 9:18 o'clock this evening. As his train drew into the station bands played, fireworks were set off and church chimes rang out. In Baggs square and every other spot adjacent to the New York Central station thousands were crowded. Mr. Sherman stepped from the train slowly and looking pale and worn. He had, however, stood the journey, his physician said, very well.

A monster procession formed in the vicinity of the station and escorted the candidate to his home. The parade was nearly two miles long and as the Sherman home is less than this distance from the depot and the line of march followed a direct course, Mr. Sherman at the head of the parade, had reached his home before the last division had formed in line.

The news of Mr Sherman's arrival was signalled all over the city by the booming of cannon, ringing of bells and blowing of whistles. A searchlight was played upon his private car and followed his carriage for a considerable distance.

Mr. Sherman alighted from the car without assistance and stepped directly to the carriage which awaited him. He acknowledged the enthusiastic greeting which he received with a broad smile which hardly relaxed until he reached his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Halstead [illegible] their golden wedding [illegible] [illegible] death of his son, Marshall, a few months ago [illegible] severe shock to him. For more than half a century he attended and reported all Republican national conventions.

As a journalist Murat Halstead originally belonged to the school of Horace Greeley of the New York Tribune and Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun, both now dead, and Colonel Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who is still reckoned as a power in the South and West.

Like Greeley and Watterson, as well as Mr. Dana, Mr. Halstead's work was characterized in his palmy days by frankness, originality, restlessness of purely party ties, intense human interest, willingness to confess error, profound and intense patriotism and inseparable identity with the spirit of American democratic institutions.

BITTER FIGHT IN PROSPECT.

Leaders Fear Parker Resolution Will Bring on Disgraceful Contest.

DENVER, Col., July 2.—The prospects of a bitter fight in the Democratic national convention over resolutions of respect to Grover Cleveland thoroughly aroused the Democratic leaders today, and they spent long hours in discussing means to prevent such an outbreak. Many of them do not hesitate to say that they fear a fight on the question which will disgrace the party and injure it, perhaps beyond repair, in the eyes of the country.

The resolution of Judge Alton B. Parker was a bombshell exploding in the midst of the Bryan followers, and it was speedily denounced as a direct slap at the Nebraskan.

All Democrats, without regard to factional differences, applaud the New York suggestion that the national convention should embrace the first opportunity to honor the former President, but when it comes to the subject matter of the resolutions they quickly part company. The peacemakers are trying to promote an agreement that such resolutions as are allowed to go in shall not contain anything over which there would be the slightest difference of opinion.

Charging that Judge Parker's resolution is a clever move on the part of Bryan's enemies to infuse factional feeling into the convention, friends of the Nebraskan today determined to offer a resolution which shall contain no allusion to controverted political issues. Through control of the temporary organizations of the convention the Bryan following expects to have its resolution brought to the attention of the delegates immediately after the speech of the temporary chairman has been delivered.

In that event the Parker resolution would have to be offered as a substitute, if submitted at all, and the Bryan men declare that the New York delegation would thereby be placed in the attitude of attempting, under the guise of eulogizing a great party leader, to create strife and dissension and to make harmony impossible.

The portions of Judge Parker's resolution which particularly aroused the ire of the friends of Mr. Bryan relate to Mr. Cleveland's record on the question of maintaining the integrity of the [illegible] and finances, the paragraphs [illegible] follows:

"He maintained the public credit [illegible], stood firm as a rock in defense of sound principles of finance, and resisted dangerous economic doctrines and practices [illegible] by the Republican party as a heritage of our [illegible]."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET

At Summer Convention Mrs. Blake, Secretary Wilson and Rev. Mr. Geisler Give Addresses.

There was a small attendance at the summer convention of the Newport county Sunday School Association, held at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Portsmouth, Thursday afternoon, the number being increased in the evening. Every church in Portsmouth was represented by lay members, although but two pastors were present, Rev. David C. Loucks of the Christian Church and Rev. Frank J. Follansbee of the Methodist Church. There were also present Rev. Dr. Quick of the Second Baptist, Rev. Joseph Cooper of the First Methodist Episcopal and Rev. William F. Geisler of the Thames Street church, Newport.

The exercises were opened with the reading of Scripture by Rev. Mr. Follansbee and prayer by Rev. Mr. Cooper. After the singing of a hymn Mrs. Charles E. Blake, elementary secretary gave a helpful and interesting talk on "Advancement in the Elementary Grades," calling out a number of questions. Mr. Willard B. Wilbur, state secretary, led a discussion on the "International Grade Lessons." Mr. David C. Loucks, who was on the program, was excused. In the evening an address was given by Rev. W. F. Geisler on "Adopting the Lesson to Learner."

Mrs. Blake spoke interestingly of several practical matters. One of these was the Cradle Roll, on which are placed the names of infants, who are kept in touch from their earliest days and birthday remembrances sent to their homes every years. The roll is kept hanging in the primary room or some part of the Sunday School.

Another point was the necessity of separating the pupils of different ages, even if by no better means than curtains. Only young children should be allowed to sit with the primary grade. Mrs. Blake never needs to worry about constant attendance or a poor collection. These are important, but will come all right if the more important matters are kept before the children. She has a system of credits in which four things count: 1, reading over the lesson three times before coming to Sunday School; 2, being able to write the "golden text" in Sunday School; 3, attendance at church before Sunday School; 4, each pupil bringing his own bible. These are not attempted all at once—one, then two, then three, then all—but they are kept before the pupils constantly.

"Beginners"—that is, babies from two years up—should be separated from the primary department. Children like to see things; therefore the blackboard should be used, if only a small one could be had. Any class could have one a foot and a half square, and it should be used if the teacher can make only a few straight lines: the children's imagination will go a long way in supplying the rest.

Another matter of much importance is supplementary work. This should not be "hap-hazard," but planned to cover the proper information for each grade for each year. The books of the Bible, the names of the twelve apostles, etc., would come under this head, which includes knowledge about the Bible, while the regular work is knowledge of the Bible. The babies can be taught that God takes care of them and that God made the birds, etc.

Secretary Wilson brought interesting news about the contemplated new departure in the international lesson system. For years the suggestion that graded lesson be provided was summarily silenced, but it has finally won. It is not proposed to abandon the old system of having the same lesson for all ages and all around the world at the same time, but it is proposed to allow a choice between that system and a full-fledged graded system for pupils up to 17 years old. After that a consecutive study, of any sort of system, may be pursued, but up to that time the new system will aim simply to teach to each grade the parts of the Bible and the lines of thought which naturally appeal to that grade—and these are widely different.

A year and a quarter will be taken to make up the system, so that it will not appear until October, 1909; but when it appears it will be a permanent one—that is, it will be printed like any other textbook, on any subject. Once studied, it can be taught year after year, the teachers becoming experts in their own grades, and able to teach anywhere the system is used. A company of the best minds is said to have been at work, and to have prepared a system which will be submitted to the international committee; but as stated the report will not be made for 15 months.

The graded system will deprive the pastor or superintendent of the time-honored privilege of a general review of the lesson with the whole school, but it is urged that each teacher should know best what impression to leave last with his class, and this should not be interfered with, even by the pastor. The pastor might well conduct the supplemental studies, as his mere presence has a beneficial effect upon the school.

Mr. Wilson also spoke in the highest terms of two of the lecturers who stand at the head in their specialties, and whose engagement for the teachers' summer school at East Greenwich is a matter of much importance to those who desire the best instruction and inspiration.

TWO WEDDING MENUS.

One for an Evening Affair and the Other for a Breakfast.

Guests Are Seated Preferably at Small Tables, and the Decorations Are June Flowers.

[Cornelia C. Bedford.]

The following is a menu for an evening June wedding:

Chicken Croquettes, Cream Sauce.
Sweetbread and Cucumber Salad.
(In Tomato Cups)
Rolled Bread and Butter Sandwiches.
Ice Cream, Fresh Strawberries.
Fancy Cakes, Coffee.

In serving, place one croquette on each plate, put over or close to it a spoonful of the sauce, which is made quite thick that it may not spread too much; a tomato containing the salad, a sandwich and a fork. If the plates are filled in the kitchen or serving room and passed to the waiters, they may be served quickly and with little confusion; extra plates of sandwiches may be passed when all have received their plates. As fast as these are emptier they are to be replaced with the second plates, on each of which is a helping of ice cream, a separate spoonful of sugared berries, and one or two fancy cakes. Extra cake is passed in the same way as were the sandwiches. Coffee may be served at the beginning or the close, as seems most desirable.

For the croquettes, one pint of chopped chicken will make from 12 to 16, according to size. For the sauce for that many, put in a saucepan over the fire two tablespoonfuls of butter, two rather heaping tablespoonfuls of flour, one scant teaspoonful of salt, and one third of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Cook without browning for five minutes, then add gradually one cupful and a half of hot milk, in which has been steeped for five minutes three cloves, a slice of onion, a sprig of parsley, one half of a blade of mace, and a half inch of bay leaf. Stir until smooth and very thick, then keep hot in a double boiler.

Sweetbreads and Cucumber Salad—Place the sweetbreads in cold water as soon as received, and change the water repeatedly until the meat looks white and free from blood. Put them in a saucepan with half a teaspoonful of salt and a slice of onion for each pair, cover with boiling water and simmer for 15 minutes. Drop into cold water and let stand until chilled, then dry on a cloth and cut in small pieces with a silver knife. Measure, and add an equal quantity of diced cucumber. Marinate the meat with a plain French dressing, and let it stand until late in the day, then drain and mix with the cucumber. One quart of the salad should serve 10 persons. Have ready some thick cream, whipped to a solid froth. To each cupful and a quarter (sufficient for a quart) add, beating gently, a dash of salt and cayenne and, a few drops at a time, two tablespoonfuls of strained lemon juice. For each guest, have a large ripe but firm tomato. Cut off the stem end, scoop out the centre with a spoon and turn the tomato head downward to drain. When the salad and dressing are mixed fill the tomatoes, and put a reserved teaspoonful of the dressing on top.

A menu for a wedding breakfast follows:

Strawberries
Canada Eggs.
Pimolas, Toast Sandwiches.
Lobster Cutlets, Cream Sauce.
Finger Rolls.
Salmi of Duck with Olives.
Potatoes a la Parisenne.
Chicken Salad, Cheese Straws.
Ice Cream, Fancy Cakes.
Coffee.

The seating arrangements for a wedding breakfast must be planned in accordance with the room. If a large one, a number of small tables would undoubtedly be prettier than the single large one. Where the number of guests is very large and the room space limited it might, perhaps, be better not to attempt to seat them, but to serve from a side table. In that case the plan of the refreshments would have to be radically altered, salads, sandwiches, filled rolls, and one hot dish being selected, followed by ices or other sweets, and coffee.

Roses, lilacs, daisies and other flowers, wild and cultivated, are in full bloom in early June, so there is a wide choice in the way of decorations. The linen should be white, the decorations centering about the flowers and the table for the bridal party. The strawberries should be of good size, and are to be served with the hulls on, passing small bowls of powdered sugar with them. After the fruit course the coffee may appear, and may be served throughout the meal. Directions are given for the two dishes which may be new.

Canada Eggs—Select a number of small, firm tomatoes, one for each person. Cut a small piece from the stem end with a spoon, scoop out the seeds and soft centre. Turn upside down for a while to drain, then sprinkle the interior of each with pepper and finely chopped parsley. Drop a raw egg in each, dust with salt and pepper, arrange the prepared tomatoes in a large buttered pan, not too close together, and place in a hot oven until the eggs are set—about eight minutes. Put one tomato on each plate on a thin slice of fried mush, and pour round it a spoonful of thick brown sauce.

Toast Sandwiches—Have the bread two days old, cut into thin slices and trim off all crust. Toast quickly on both sides and spread with a little butter. Have raw ham cut in very thin slices and brown quickly in a pan. Put a slice of this ham between two pieces of toast and press together.

PERSONALS.

....Rev. Alexander V. G. Allen, D. D., one of the leading theologians in the United States and for 11 years professor of church history at the Cambridge Episcopal Theological School, is dead. Professor Allen was born in Otis, Mass., in 1841, and graduated from Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, in 1862. He was ordained priest in 1865 and two years later entered the Episcopal Theological School. The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon him by Yale, Harvard and Kenyon. Professor Allen was widely known as a theological and biographical writer. Among his works were "Life of Jonathan Edwards," "Life and Letters of Phillips Brooks" and "Freedom in the Church." The last named book, which was published last year, following the deposition from the priesthood of Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, D. D., of Rochester, N. Y., a friend of the author, caused much comment in the church.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Hurrah! for the morning of mornings has come,
Unfurl every banner and beat every drum,
Let bird, boy and bugle tell earth, sea and sky,
'Tis Freedom's glad birthday, the Fourth of July.

Hurrah for our banner! the flag of the free,
Its starry folds floating from sea unto sea;
Its stripes for the traitor who dares to defy,
Its stars go before us on Fourth of July.

Hurrah for the future! we boys of the land
In Freedom's grave councils are destined to stand,
Then down with the treason whose life is a lie,
And up with the rockets, 'tis Fourth of July.

FREEDOM'S BANNER.

[Drake.]

When Freedom from her mountain height
Unfurled her standard to the air,
She tore the azure robe of night,
And set the stars of glory there.
She mingled with its gorgeous dyes
The milky baldric of the skies,
And striped its pure celestial white
With streakings of the morning light.

THE PATRIOTS.

[Eunice Ward, in St. Nicholas.]

The burly cannon cracker to the slender little flag
Said, "How are you to celebrate the day?
You never make a single sound, you cannot jump nor shoot,
And where they put you there you have to stay."

The rockets, roman candles and the giddy, racy wheels
With patriotic zeal began to brag
Of how they'd leap and bang and fizz and flare and whirl—and all
United to deride the silent flag.

But when the day was done, the crackers lay in scattered shreds;
And bits of wheel were clinging to the trees;
The rocket sticks were lying prone; but high above the scene,
The little flag still frolicked with the breeze.

FANCIES.

He was all here in the morning
When forth from his home he set out,
Safeguarded by many a warning
Which he is forgetting, no doubt.
His state of completeness was pleasant
When for fireworks he started to roam,
This is the question at present:
How much of him's coming back home?

Will there be fingers found missing?
Will he have all of his toes?
His mouth, is it still straight for kissing?
Has he altered the shape of his nose?
'Tis a moment for waiting and guessing.
Are we victors or are we beref?
This is the question that's pressing:
How much of dear Willie is left?
—[Washington Star.

"The glorious Fourth is here again!"
Now doth the doctor say,
"Get out the lint and bandages:
This is my busy day!"—[Lippincott's.

"Dar's a heap o' firecracker patriotism all de time," said Uncle Eben; "de kind dat does all you kin expect fum it when it makes a heap o' noise."—[Washington Star.

Nervous New Yorker (in frontier town)—Do you have many shooting accidents here on the Fourth of July?

Native—Oh, no; this ain't New York. If you git shot, it won't be no accident.—[Judge.

"Willie," asked the school teacher, "do you know why we burn fireworks on the Fourth of July?"

"Yes, sir; so we can show the neighbors we've got just as much money to spend foolishly as they have," replied Willie.—[Judge.

The safe and sane Fourth of July had come.

"But how are the boys observing the day?" asked the foreigner, who had just landed. "I don't see any shoot."

"The boys?" said the native. "The last of 'em sir, were all killed off one year ago today, and the new crop hasn't come on yet."

Marvelling at the changes times had brought about, the stranger followed the crowd to the ball park, where the real celebration was in progress."—[Chicago Tribune.

BRYAN'S AND TAFT'S BELIEFS.

[Lincoln Steffens in Everybody's]

These two men do not differ essentially in the final analysis of their programs. They would return to competition, which socialism and the trusts would abolish. They want the struggle for survival to go on; it is to be a fair fight, but a fight, and for wealth, too, even between capital and labor. Bryan, having had more time to reflect and having lived out West, where the problems of business and politics are clearer and simpler, sees them more definitely than Roosevelt and Taft, who have been men of action always. For example Bryan sees at the problem of poverty consciously. All his policies are directed, as he himself points out, at excessive wealth, which is, at bottom, the same as excessive poverty. And besides the remedies listed above, he advocates an inheritance tax and, more important still, "a tax on incomes as a regular item in our fiscal system." So does Taft advocate these measures; but Bryan sees their relations to other taxes. The constitutional objection of the Supreme Court Bryan meets with a proposition to amend the Constitution. Taft regards this as unnecessary. Indeed, Taft doesn't want any more legislation than is necessary to make our present laws effective. And there we have a big difference between the two men.

Bryan sees the part privileges play in our system; he sees it clearly as a cause of injustice, and he would legislate and legislate and legislate till he had abolished all the artificial advantages that are granted by government. Taft, a proved executive and a born judge, would depend upon the executive and judicial powers of the government to achieve the same end, more vaguely seen. Bryan is not of the executive type, and there is reason to fear that he is no better judge of men than Roosevelt, to say nothing of Taft; but, seeing the end more clearly, he would not depend so much upon the men he appointed and the courts to prevent and punish evil as he would upon legislation to remove the cause. And, unlike Taft, but very much like Roosevelt, Bryan would preach and teach and—lead. "We must not only see to it that the government shall take away the prizes that make men pursue a low ideal; we must all of us as individually strive to live better lives and to inculcate higher ideals in others." Taft should give us better government of things as they are; Bryan, leading us on to change things, should make us a better people.

"THE REAL BRYAN."

Compilation of Extracts from His Speeches and Writings, by Richard L. Metcalfe.

Extracts from the speeches and writings of William J. Bryan have been compiled by Richard L. Metcalfe and issued in book form, under the title "The Real Bryan." The selections have been made with the object of showing the wide range taken by the distinguished Nebraskan in his public addresses, and that the high ideals which control his political conduct rule in his other affairs of life. The author says the "real Bryan" is "a true and manly man, who believes that the gifts with which nature has endowed him are veritable commands to render service to his fellows," and that this is the way he is known by every Nebraskan who has had the advantage of intimate acquaintance with him.

The extracts are taken from all kinds of speeches, ranging from those dealing with religious subjects to those of a purely political trend. There are more than 150 selections, some being very brief, the majority being mere paragraphs. A few of the subjects treated are Capital and Labor, Foreign Relations, Money and Banking, Imperialism, Militarism and Self-Government, the Tariff, Trusts, Corporations and Railroad Regulation, besides many ethical and religious topics.

The book is issued by the Personal Help Publishing Company.

TO SOLVE AERIAL NAVIGATION.

Rene Quinton, the French biologist, who recently offered a prize of $1,000 for the first aeroplane which hovers in the air five minutes with the motor stopped, declares in an article explaining his proposition that he believes the feat will be accomplished soon. Basing his confidence upon the soaring capacity of birds, he believes the force of the wind, instead of being an obstacle, will furnish the aid necessary to maintain flight. The aeroplane, he claims, if it uses the method of the vulture, condor, eagle, or other soaring bird, can navigate the air at a height of thousands of feet.

THE SECOND PLACE AT DENVER.

There has evidently made some impression on Bryan; it has sobered him a little. Even before Mr. Cleveland's death he refrained from repeating his characterization of him as a bunco steerer. Instead of defying the conservative Democrats, as he has been in the habit of doing, reading them out of the party and insisting that they should make humble apologies before they could be regarded as members of it at all, he is trying to conciliate them. Eight years ago he graciously consented that they should vote for him if they wished, but beyond that he would give them no recognition. Now he is eager to win them. He desires a representative of them to go on the ticket with him.

He is opposed to Governor Johnson, because he feels strong enough in the West any way. Johnson has incurred his dislike by daring to dispute his ownership of the West. He will not have Johnson under any circumstances. But the East is, as he described it 12 years ago, the "enemy's country". As such it has a right to a candidate of its own, and as such it has claims upon his consideration which he is graciously disposed to recognize. He would be glad to have Judge Gray take the second place on his ticket. Gray is from the East and Bryan must capture a good deal of the East to win. He represents the Cleveland Democrats, and Bryan stands no show unless he can secure their votes. As the chairman of the anthracite strike commission he is supposed to have considerable popularity among labor organizations, and therefore he would be especially welcome as an ally. Bryan and Gray, West and East, radical and conservative, cheap money and sound money, would be a satisfactory combination to the gentleman from Nebraska.

Judge Gray cannot afford to take any such nomination. His supporters will convict themselves of poltroonery if they consent to have it offered to him. He would compromise himself and everything he has stood for by going on the ticket, and there is only the remotest chance that he would be elected. He has been too much talked of for the first place to consent to accept the second. Let Bryan on a Populist platform have a Populist colleague.

A CONFEDERATE IN THE CABINET.

The Nashville American has a very short memory, for it remarks upon the appointment as Secretary of War of Luke E. Wright, at one time a captain in the Confederate army. It also shows how far from the war we have traveled. If such a thing had occurred 20 years ago many Northerners would have fainted, while others would have rushed forward with loaded muskets to defend the nation.

The country had traveled as far as this some time ago. Mr. Wright is not the first Confederate to enter the cabinet. If we go back 15 years—which is not quite 20, but is nearly as much—we find that President Cleveland appointed Hilary A. Herbert, who was colonel of an Alabama regiment at Antietam and Gettysburg and remained in the Confederate army so long as there was any, to be Secretary of the Navy. While he held that office battleships Alabama, named for his own state, and Kearsarge, named for the famous ship which sank the Confederate Alabama, were begun.

There were precedents even for that. When Hayes was elected President it was pretty generally admitted that the reconstruction era was passed. President Grant even refused to send troops into Mississippi to maintain the carpet-bag government. Hayes frankly and fully accepted the failure of reconstruction, removed the federal troops from the Southern states and held out the olive branch to the South by appointing David M. Key, an ex-Confederate, to be Postmaster General. Perhaps that was less shocking to Northern susceptibilities than it would have been to appoint an ex-Confederate to be Secretary of War or Secretary of the Navy, but as he was a member of the cabinet it was much the same thing. It must be remembered, too, that that was only a dozen years after Appomattox.

General Grant appointed George Ackerman, who had lived in Georgia for 26 years, to be Attorney General. Outside of the cabinet every one will recall the appointment of Mosby to a consulate, and Longstreet to be marshal and afterward minister to Turkey, both by Republican Presidents, and Lamar to be a justice of the Supreme Court, by President Cleveland.

It may be well for citizens of Newport to consider the strained relations between the management of the Rhode Island Suburban railroad and its employes, in arranging for outings tomorrow, since there are possibilities of a strike which may mean a tie up on some lines which would be inconvenient when holiday crowds are traveling. It is difficult enough to travel on any of the Providence cars on the Fourth when things are running smooth, but only a mental tie-up will [illegible] ... and naturally the employes are likely to take action at a time when the company will feel [illegible] ... A strike may be declared and [illegible] ... but it is evident that [illegible] ... will be given of what is [illegible]

Police [illegible] Bingham of New York has issued an order prohibiting [illegible] cannons, pistols, firearms, fire[illegible] of [illegible] calibre and [illegible] ... the Fourth of July. He will [illegible] the discharge of proper size, and even those of the so-called cannon [illegible] ... provided they are not more [illegible] ... inches long and an inch [illegible] quarter in diameter. Similar [illegible] and perhaps more stringent, ought to be made in every city in the land, and the Fourth would be none the less glorious because of them.

Judge Bischoff of the New York supreme court decides that verbal betting is legal, his decision being to the effect that the new race track gambling law in that state was aimed at bookmaking and poolselling and does not apply to the citizen who is willing to hazard something on his judgement. These are sometimes known as "gentleman's bets."

Few newspaper men have had the prominence of Murat Halstead. Beginning journalistic work as a boy, he rose to the foremost rank in his profession before he reached middle age, and his unusually recognized talents gave him a high place in the political field.

One by one those who have been mentioned for the Democratic nomination for Vice President are announcing that they are not candidates, and soon there will be left but one blooming alone, all its companions having withered and gone.

If one can read the news from Denver aright, the friends of Bryan are not so confident of victory as they have been.

Let it be a glorious and if need be a noisy, Fourth, but cut out the dangerous fire crackers and explosives.

July is furnishing the fogs which June forgot to supply.

THE JULY MAGAZINES.

The July Atlantic opens with a timely discussion of the wasteful and illogical method the government employs in dealing with the question of public lands. Seth K. Humphrey asks and answers the pertinent question, "What is the Matter with our Land Laws?" Professor A. S. Isaacs of New York University writes on "The Jew and the Currents of his Age." Vigorously combatting the common impression that the Jew is intellectually out of sympathy with modern thought. Hollis Godfrey contributes another study under the title "The Air of the City," in which he points out the dangers from smoke and dust and other easily preventable hazards of city life. K. Asakawa writes a suggestive and illuminating paper on "Literature and Society of new Japan."

There are two descriptive papers of unusual quality, "Fresh Snow on La Grivola," by W. S. Jackson is, a unique transcript of Alpine experiences, and "Round the Horn," by Captain F. H. Shaw, is a picturesque account of the voyage of a sailing vessel of an earlier era. J. O. Fagan rounds out his remarkable "Confessions of a Railroad Signalman" with a concluding paper. The short stories are of first quality. Evelyn Schuyler Schaeffer writes an original story of a fortuneteller on the board-walk in Atlantic City. Judith Graves Waldo contributes "Winnowing Gold," a picturesque narrative of Mexican gold-seekers. Dorothy Canfield's "Hillsboro's Good Luck" is a humorous study of New England life, and "The End of the Story," by Laura Campbell, is a story of life in an old ladies' home full of quiet humor and genuine pathos. Other contributions are "The Ideal of Oriental Unity," by Paul S. Reinsch; "The White Birch," a charming nature study, Candace Wheeler; Paul E. More's interesting and exhaustive review of "Lady Mary Wortley Montagu and Her Times;" and two group reviews,—of scientific books by E. T. Brewster, and theological by Rev. George Hodges.

The poems are by Julia C. R. Dorr, Ridgeley Torrence, and a sequence of charming verses by Richard Watson Gilder, entitled "In Helena's Garden."

The frontispiece of the July Century is the first reproduction of Gari Melcher's portrait from life of President Roosevelt, showing the President in riding dress. The canvas was painted for the Freer collection of the National Gallery, Smithsonian Institute, at Washington, and is considered a notably virile portrait. The number gives much of its space to articles pertaining to the business interests of the country, that of special timeliness being Mr. Edmond Kelly's discussion of "Employment for the Unemployed," in which he describes in some detail the results achieved in the Swiss farm colonies. How the West is coming to greatness and power by the hardships of the trail and of the pioneer home is shown by Ray Stannard Baker in an account of "The Western Spirit of Restlessness," while William Garrott Brown presents the existing status of "The South and the Saloon," and George Trumbull Ladd shows that the business morals of Japan are not so black as they are commonly painted, and at any rate are sure to mend. In the same spirit is the story of "The Turning-point of Mr. Carnegie's Career," by David Homer Bates, author of "Lincoln in the Telegraph Office." A growing American industry, "Our New Caviar Fisheries," is described by Charles R. Stockard.

Of the serial features of the magazine, Dr. George F. Shrady's account of "General Grant's Last Days" concludes with the sympathetically told narrative of the final struggle and the end at Mount McGregor; "The Reminiscences of Lady Randolph Churchill" abound in anecdotes of Rubinstein, Liszt, Paderewski, and Bayreuth opera, and the chapters of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell's "The Red City" gives a vivid and dramatic picture of the scenes and horrors of the plague's ravages in 1793.

Providence Man a Socialist Labor Candidate for President.

Constitutionality of Leasing of Oyster Beds Questioned—New Bristol Court Clerk.

James T. Hunter, a Providence silversmith, became the leading candidate for nominee of the Socialist-Labor party for President of the United States when the fifth quadrennial convention of the party in New York yesterday decided to have nothing to do with the candidacy of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist nominee, or the plans of the Socialist party in the coming national campaign. Robert H. Downey, a physician of Richmond, Va., is the leading choice for the Vice Presidential nomination. Mr. Hunter was until recently employed by the Gorham Manufacturing Company in Providence. The proposition submitted by a committee representing the Unity League of the Socialist party, suggesting that for the sake of harmony the Socialist Laborites endorse Eugene V. Debs, was the principal event at the first day's session of the convention yesterday. After a discussion a roll-call was taken on the proposition and it was beaten by a unanimous vote. The nomination of candidates will probably be made today.

The constitutionality of the net authorizing the leasing of oyster beds in Narragansett bay, giving to the state a revenue approximated at more than $100,000 yearly, is involved in the suit of Payne & Butler against the Providence Gas Company, before Judge Brown in the superior court, which may be given to the jury this afternoon in Providence. The case is for $35,000, brought by the East Providence oyster firm, alleging that the gas company caused pollution of the bay and Providence river, with the result that 48,000 bushels of oysters were killed. It has been on trial about a fortnight, and various technical matters have been explained by experts on both sides, while the defense is also bringing constitutional questions into the case freely. The case for the defense opened yesterday, among the experts summoned by the gas company's counsel, Edwards & Angell, being Professor Graham of Brown University, Paul F. Clarke an instructor in the bacteriological department at Brown; Professor C. A. Fuller of the University of Wisconsin and George C. Whipple, a sewage expert from New York. The destruction of the oysters is alleged to have been caused in the spring of 1904, when, the claim is made by the plaintiffs, tar, gas and oils from the gas company's works polluted the waters and killed the oysters.

Thomas J. Johnson, has been appointed by Governor Higgins clerk of the Fifth Judicial District court at Bristol, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Arthur W. Joyce. The appointment was made yesterday. There were several other candidates, all well endorsed. Mr. Johnson is 23 years old, married, and lives at Bristol. He was graduated from the Bristol high school and from Bryant & Stratton's Commercial College, after which he studied law in the office of A. B. Crafts. He has had considerable experience in matters pertaining to court practice through work done in assisting Robert S. Emerson, clerk of the district court at Pawtucket. He was a candidate for the position of judge against Judge Orrin S. Bosworth, in the recent election for that office, having been nominated by the Democrats in the General Assembly. He also recently ran for representative from his town and for town clerk. This gave him a strong party backing, which is said to have had weight with the governor.

Two young men met death in Rhode Island waters, a carpenter was drowned in the harbor at Fall River, while a small boy was dragged from the water at Woonsocket after he had been submerged for 10 minutes and was revived after long effort, yesterday. The two young men drowned in this state were Edward Perry, aged 25 years, of Riverside, who sank beneath the water off Riverside beach as a boat rowed by two young women was coming to his assistance, and Robert Carlisle Vose, aged 17 years, of Cumberland Hill, who was seized with cramps while swimming in Sneechecomet pond at Cumberland. But for his violent embracing of George Waterman, aged 15, who went to his assistance and who was nearly drawn beneath the water with him, Vose's life would have been saved. Vose's body was recovered; Perry's is still missing. Young Vose was the eldest son of the late Elmer Vose, a member of the grocery firm of Vose Brothers, at Manville, and completed his high school education, only last Friday, graduating from the Woonsocket high school.

The first accident in Providence incidental to the "celebration" of the glorious Fourth was reported last evening. The victim was a woman, Loverina Lizotte of Fall River. As she was passing down South Main street shortly before 9 o'clock, powder from red fire and Roman candles, being set off by children, flashed in her face, causing the woman severe pain. A physician dressed the burns, the victim complaining of pains in both eyes. An ambulance was summoned, in which she was removed to the Rhode Island Hospital. The surgeons there could find no evidence that the woman had been burned to any extent and she was discharged from the hospital in a short time.

The excessive heat, together with the oppressive humidity, claimed a victim in Rhode Island yesterday, when Joseph Paul, 76 years old, dropped dead at his home in Harrisville, in the town of Burrillville, of apoplexy, caused by the hot weather. Mr. Paul, with his family, was eating dinner. Without warning he fell to the floor and when the members of the family reached his side life was extinct. Physicians were quickly summoned, but their services were of no avail.

State Superintendent W. E. Longfellow of the Rhode Island Department, United States Volunteer Life-Saving Corps, has just returned from a conference of superintendents at the national headquarters, New York, where the new rules for the government of the corps have been under consideration. Many important changes for the good of the service are to be carried out. One of the features of the amended rules is the putting of the service more nearly on the footing of the navy regarding the number of officers as compared to the number of surfmen. Rhode Island will need to make but few changes in this respect, as it has been the policy to make careful selection in the matter of officers for the numerous crews. Under the new regime crews of 10 men will be in charge of a coxswain and four or more crews in each division commanded by a captain and a junior and senior lieutenant and a boatswain, who will be an aid in a clerical capacity to the captain. Numerous changes in regard to junior crews for instruction will also be made and a meeting of the officers of the northern department is to be called in Providence next Thursday to discuss plans for putting the new regulations into effect.

Receivers have been appointed by Judge Waddill of the United States Circuit Court in Virginia, it was announced yesterday for the Norfolk & Southern Railway Company in which the Union Trust Company of this city and the Slater Trust Company of Pawtucket, with other banking concerns and individuals in this state, are interested. The receivership will in no wise impair the value of the holdings of the Union Trust Company, according to a statement made by President Rathbone Gardner, who says the stock is scheduled at only 50 per cent of its face value in the inventory on which the recent re-organization of the trust company was based. President Gardner is himself a member of the re-organization committee of the road, at whose instance the receivership proceedings were instituted. The placing of the road in the hands of receivers was the result of an application filed in the United States circuit court at Norfolk Wednesday by the Trust Company of America, New York, asking that receivers be appointed to assume charge of the affairs of the Norfolk & Southern system. Without opposition three receivers were named by Judge Waddill. The receivers ordered that the services of the president, vice presidents and secretary be dispensed with from date. All other officials are retained. The action is understood to be a protective one among the holders of the bonds of the railway company and to have been agreed to by the combined larger interests involved. The Union Trust Company is one of the largest single concerns interested in the affairs of the Norfolk and Southern, having a $2,000,000 interest in the enterprise.

THE JOURNALISTIC FRATERNITY.

[Boston Globe.]

Carl Schurz, in his autobiography, after describing how he happened to go to Washington, at the request of Horace Greeley, to take charge of the news bureau of the Tribune, says:

"Thus I entered the journalistic fraternity. My most agreeable experience consisted in my association with other members of the craft. I found among the correspondents of the press a number of gentlemen of uncommon ability and high principle—genuine gentlemen, who loved truth for its own sake, who heartily detested sham and false pretence, and whose sense of honor was the finest. This was the rule, to which, as to all rules, there were of course some exceptions, but they were rare."

A very pretty compliment to newspaper men from a man who had worked in their ranks himself and later was in close touch with them as a holder of high office in the government service!

A GENERAL HOLIDAY.

Business Practically Suspended Throughout the City.

Order of March for Parade, and Program for Fireworks Exhibition and Band Concerts.

Tomorrow, the Fourth of July, the one hundred and thirty-second anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, will be observed in Newport as a general holiday. The banks and public offices will be closed, and many branches of business will be suspended for the day, while others, notably the provision shops, will be opened only until 9 o'clock. The barber shops will close at 12 o'clock. The postoffice will observe the usual holiday hours.

The small boy will have his own special holiday, and those of more mature years will become boys again, in spirit at least. Many will seek a day's pleasure out of the city and many excursionists are expected to come here for their holiday. The freight service on the railroad will be suspended and the only freight taken will be perishable, to go by boat. The Daily News will not print.

The official program arranged by the mayor and aldermen opens with the parade at 10 o'clock in the morning, which it will be well worth seeing. It will include soldiers from Fort Adams and Fort Greble, the apprentice seamen from the Naval Training Station and the local military and naval reserve organizations with five bands, two drum corps and a bugle corps to furnish music. In the afternoon there will be athletic sports at Morton Park, beginning at 2 o'clock; boat races in the upper harbor at 4 o'clock and a swimming race. In the evening there will be a display of fireworks at the church at 8 o'clock and band concerts in Morton Park, Touro Park and Washington square, from 9:30 to 11.

The following order has been issued by Colonel C. L. F. Robinson, who will command the line for tomorrow morning's parade:

Headquarters Chief Marshal, Newport, R. I., July 3, 1908.
General Order, No. 1.

1. Having assumed command of the parade celebrating the Declaration of Independence, Saturday, July 4, 1908, at the request of His Honor, Mayor William P. Clarke, and the Board of Aldermen of this city, the following appointments and directions are announced:

2. Chief of staff, Captain Chester L. Wyman, Newport Artillery; Staff, First Lieutenant Silas H. Hazard and First Lieutenant Henry H. Luther, Newport Artillery.

3. The staff will report mounted to the chief of staff at 9 o'clock, a. m., in front of the Court House, Washington square.

4. The line will be made up as follows:

Platoon of police.
Colonel C. L. F. Robinson, commanding line.
Staff.
United States Army.
United States Navy.
Newport Artillery Company.
Naval Reserves.

5. The "United" States Army will march up Thames street to Touro, to Spring, to Broadway, down left side of Broadway, halting with right resting on Court House street.

6. The United States navy will march down Thames street to Marlboro, to Broadway, down right side of Broadway, halting with right resting at Farewell street.

7. The Newport Artillery Company will march through Clarke street to Touro, to Court House street, halting with right resting on Broadway.

8. The Naval Reserves will march up Thames street to Touro, to Court House street, halting with right near the left of the Newport Artillery Company.

10. All troops will be in position prepared to move not later than 9:45 a. m.

10. The parade will start promptly at 10 a. m., and march over the following route: Washington square, Thames street, Narragansett avenue, Bellevue avenue, Kay street, Rhode Island avenue, Broadway to Bliss road, countermarching down Broadway, and halt with right resting on Oak street. The troops will then pass in review. The reviewing officer will be His Honor, Mayor William P. Clarke, and the reviewing stand will be the City Hall steps on the left side of Broadway. After passing in review the troops will be dismissed.

By order of
Colonel C. L. F. Robinson,
chief marshal.
Captain Chester L. Wyman,
chief of staff.

The coast artillery battalion will be in command of Major Blake of Fort Greble and will comprise four companies and the Fort Adams band. One of the companies will come from Fort Greble. The naval brigade will comprise ten companies, as they participated in the dress parade of yesterday, the Training Station band and bugle and drum corps, and the hospital corps. Boatswain Spicer will be in command.

The program for the fireworks exhibition at the beach by the National Fireworks Company on the night of the Fourth, beginning at 8 o'clock, is as follows:

1. Three 15-inch aerial mortars fired to 1,000 feet, there exploding.
2. Prismatic illumination of the grounds; 20 colored lights changing.
3. Ascent of two meteoric balloons, weather permitting, with tri-color and magnesium fires.
4. Fifty one and two-pound colored rockets.
5. Salvo of four 8-inch shells, different colors.
6. Ascent of three six-pound parachute rockets.
7. Special device, Merry Widow Fan, pow.
8. Flight of four three-pound assorted rockets.
9. Display of 12 golden spray fountains, fired simultaneously.
10. Six prismatic whirlwinds.
11. Aerial acre of variegated gems, produced by eight nine-inch bombshells.
12. Explosion of three 12-inch volleys of silver snakes.
13. Salvo of seven 15-inch bombshells.
14. Discharge of two 12-inch serpentine bombs.
15. Special device, "Niagara Falls," 100 feet long by 50 high, reproducing in one solid, continuous mass of brilliant fire this mighty cataract.
16. Flight of four four-pound peacock plume rockets.
17. Salvo of five 15-inch bombshells.
18. Special flight of six four-pound peacock plume rockets.
19. Explosion of three 12-inch whirling dervishes.
20. Six batteries of chromatic stars.
21. Flight of four six-pound chrysanthemums, which at the height of 400 feet burst, showing a shower of variegated stars.
22. Salvo of four 15-inch bombshells, latest effects.
23. Volley of two 15-inch aerial torpedoes.
24. Special device, "Diamond Dust Screen," six sections, 20 feet high, spaced 20 feet apart, fired simultaneously.
25. Six batteries of electric spreaders.
26. Flight of three six-pound electric rockets.
27. Flight of six 12-inch bombshells, forming acres of poppies in cornfield.
28. Special flight of two 15-inch bombshells.
29. Display of three jeweled mines.
30. Salvo of two 15-inch National repeating bombs.
31. Ascent of four four-pound fresco rockets (Mark Twain's "Aerial Sleigh-Bells").
32. Special device, "American Flag," an immense reproduction of the emblem of the country in great bull-liney.
33. Salvo of six 12-inch bombshells.
34. Flight of six silver portullions.
35. Discharge of five 24-inch bombshells.
36. Flight of six three-pound whistling rockets.
37. Flight of 15 9-inch Neapolitan bombs.
38. Four 15-inch batteries of golden serpents.
39. Special device, "The Star of Columbia," a brilliant colored star.
40. Ascent of four four-pound weeping willow rockets.
41. Ascent of four four-pound serpentlight rockets.
42. Salvo of two 30-inch shell of shells.
43. Special display of five-inch sequence bomb, three shot.
44. Six batteries of Italian streamers.
45. Ascent of two four-pound up-and-down rockets.
46. Salvo of 18-inch repeating bomb, 3 shot.
47. Salvo of 15-inch quintuple repeating bomb.
48. Special device, "Electric Kaleidoscope."
49. Salvo of 18-inch ruffolish bomb.
50. Flight of six eight-pound hanging chain rockets.
51. Flight of six eight-pound festoon rockets, the finest of this class produced.
52. Special display of three nine-batteries.
53. Discharge of two 18-inch mammoth spreaders.
54. Discharge of two 24-inch mammoth shells.
55. Special display of three nine-inch sequence shells.
56. Display of 24 three-pound rockets, assorted colors.
57. Special device, "Good Night."

The Newport Yacht Club will have a motor boat and sailboat race over one of the regular courses. If the wind is southwest it will be from the flagpole on the Torpedo Station to St. Patrick's buoy, around both Bishop buoys, around mark north of North Dumpling, around Dolphin and finish off City wharf. The motor boat race will start at 12:30, the preliminary signal being given at 12:27 and the limit gun at 12:33. The boats will be timed and handicapped the same as in Tuesday's race, the times made in that race being mark as part of the handicap estimate. Ten minutes later, or at 12:40, the catboats will be sent off to a one-gun start, over the same course. The preliminary being at 12:37. It is expected that there will be another good turnout of motor boats, as the race comes at a time when there is nothing on the official program.

Three games are scheduled for the base ball grounds. At 10:30 and 4 p. m. between Newport and the Cuban Giants, and at 2 p. m. between the Newports and a picked team from the City League made up from the following men: Ernest Greene, Clarke or Butler, pitcher; Shaw of the Seamen Gunners, Du Donovan of the Rudder Club 2b., Ashe of Seamen Gunners s.s., D. Sullivan of Rangers 3b., J. F. Sullivan, Old Colony, l.f., J. J. Sullivan, Young Men's Christian Association, r.f., Messing, Rudder Club, c.f., Dillon, Rudder Club, c. In consideration of the fact that the management is making an effort to push base ball at Wellington park, the City League game has been omitted in the morning and it is expected that most of the players of that league will go to the park to see the Newports.

The Rangers and Primer Makers will play at the Basin in the afternoon.

The following is the program for the concert to be given by the Newport Military Band on Touro park tomorrow evening:

March, "National Emblem," Bagley.
Overture, "Zampa," Herold.
Valse, "Merry Widow," Lehar.
Selection, "Aida," Verdi.
"Tone pictures of North and South," Bendix.
"La Chquantaine," an air in ancient style, Gabriel-Marie.
Excerpts from "The Soul Kiss," Levi.
March, from "Tannhauser," Wagner.
Medley Overture, Lamps.
"La Marseillaise,"
"Star Spangled Banner."
William H. Gilliam,
Conductor.

The following program will be given by the Lincoln Band on Washington square:

"America."
March, "Master Mechanic," M. E. Frock.
Overture, "Apollo," L. P. Laurendeau.
Selection, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe.
Waltz, "When the Winter days are over," J. S. Nathan.
Selection, "Merry Widow," F. Lehar.
Medley, "I'm afraid to come home in the dark," Van Alstyne.
Operatic Melange, L. P. Laurendeau.
Medley March, "All she gets from the iceman is ice," R. L. Halle.
"Star Spangled Banner."
J. F. Badnelly, Conductor.

Owing to the fact that the naval brigade will parade in the morning, it is proposed to send ashore a large liberty party in the afternoon. In view of this fact the usual Fourth of July sports will be postponed until Monday, when a long program will be run off.

On the occasion of the dress parade at the Station yesterday it was noticed that the audience was apparently unappreciative of the fine work done by the boys, so far as was evidenced by outward show. The young sailors are just as susceptible to a little applause as any other class of human beings appearing in public, and the suggestion has been made that if the people along the line of march tomorrow warm up a little and give some applause the boys will sprace up proportionately and add so much more to the effect of the parade.

AT THE TUBERCULOSIS CONGRESS.

Governor Higgins has agreed to serve as one of the vice presidents of the International Congress on Tuberculosis, to be held in Washington from September 21 to October 12, under the auspices of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Mr. Rowland G. Hazard of Peace Dale is a member of the central committee of arrangements and also chairman of the committee which is making preparations for the participation of the state in the congress, and in the exhibition to be held in connection with it. Dr. Gardner T. Swarts of Providence is secretary and the members include, J. Truman Burdick, Newport; Dr. C. V. Chapin, Providence; Ernest D. Easton, Providence; Frederick W. Easton, Pawtucket; Dr. Frank T. Fulton, Providence; Mrs. John F. Huntsman, Providence; James R. McColl Providence; Dr. Mary S. Packard, Providence; Dr. Jay Perkins, Providence; Miss Harriet E. Thomas, Newport, and W. A. Viall, Providence.

COLONEL MARSHALL APPOINTED

Made Chief of the Engineer Corps to Succeed General Mackenzie, After Due Consideration.

President Roosevelt yesterday appointed Colonel William L. Marshall, chief of the engineer corps, to succeed Brigadier General Alexander Mackenzie, who retired May 25. Two other well known colonels had been prominently mentioned for the berth, and one of them would probably have been appointed, but for the spirited rivalry. After considering the matter carefully and consulting Secretary Taft and General Wright, his successor, the President decided to appoint Colonel Marshall, whose wide experience and fine record admirably fit him for the place.

Colonel Marshall, who is 62 years old, saw service as a private soldier in the Civil war and then went to West Point, where he was graduated in 1868. He was a professor in the Military Academy in 1876 and 1874, and was engaged in explorations in the West from 1872 to 1876, discovering Marshall Pass, in the Rocky Mountains. He had charge of the construction of Mississippi River levees in 1881-'84, of harbors on Lake Michigan in 1884-1900, and also of construction of the Hennepin canal, 1896-1900. Since January 4, 1900, he has been the engineer in charge of the construction of fortifications at the eastern and southern entrances to New York harbor and improvements to the main channels.

NEWPORT YACHT CLUB PLANS.

The Newport Yacht Club held its monthly meeting last evening, elected a number of new members and transacted routine business. It was voted to have a trip and a clambake at Dyer's island on a near date, and a committee was appointed to arrange for it. It was voted to have a motor boat and catboat race July 4, for prizes given by the flag officers. The races will start at 12:30 and be over the regular club course, the motor boats starting 10 minutes ahead of the sailing craft.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The regular Boston excursion is due tomorrow, at the usual time.

—Countess Cherubrera is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor.

—Deputy United States Marshal Newhall of Providence was in town today.

—There was a notable influx of visitors here today, who will remain over the Fourth.

—Mrs. John A. Pinard, Mrs. Puzeau Pinard and her son are to spend August and September here.

—Mrs. S. W. Stevens and her daughter, of Philadelphia, are guests of Mrs. Achilles Stevens.

—Edward L. Spencer has rented for Mrs. Shea the cottage, at 19 Halsey street to William Walker, U. S. N.

—Mrs. Joseph F. Stone, Dudley C. Gautier, W. H. P. Phyfe and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Benjamin are registered at the Casino.

—Mr. and Mrs. George H. Benjamin of New York have arrived at "Brent Lodge," Gibbs avenue, which they have rented for the season.

—J. B. Parsonage & Son have rented for Miss M. J. Boyleck the lower tenement at 673 Thames street, corner of Potter stree to William J. Reeves.

—General and Mrs. William Quinton, Mrs. E. C. Mason and Professor H. Boyer of New York and Dr. R. E. Moore of Philadelphia, are at The Robinson.

—DeBlois & Eldridge have rented for Miss Ellen F. Mason her cottage on Gibbs avenue, known as "Brent Lodge", to George H. Benjamin of New York, for the season.

—Steamer City of Lowell will make an excursion from New London tomorrow, leaving there at 10:30 and due here about 1. There will also be excursions from up-the-bay points by boats.

—Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hunter gave a children's bayou party at Sunnyfields Farm, Middletown, this afternoon. Haying games were played, for which pretty prizes were given, and refreshments were served.

—Last night could pass for a very foggy one. Perhaps some noted the persistence of the foghorns and whistles. Also the effect was felt today, when the atmosphere was decidedly muggy and the temperature felt much higher than it really was.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Sheppard (Miss Katherine Mary Turner) have returned from their wedding trip and are guests of Mrs. Sheppard's mother, Mrs. Henry E. Turner, for a few days, before sailing for Europe on the way to their home in Uruguay.

—Dinners will be given this evening by Mrs. Elisha Dyer, Jr., Mrs. Philip M. Lydig, Miss Anna Sands and Mr. DeLancey Kane, and tomorrow evening dinners will be given by Mr. James J. Van Alen, Mrs. J. R. Dilworth, Miss Ida E. Bliss and Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt.

—Two small children, while attempting to cross Thames Street in front of the Boston Store today, became confused and were run into by a pair of horses. Officer Coggeshall, who was near by, caught them and prevented the wheels from running over them. One child was slightly hurt, and Officer Coggeshall has a bad knee, where he slid on the pavement.

—Captain William Barber, one of the last of the old-time salt water men, who for years went out from here, hand-line fishing, and who knew about everything there was to be known about such fishing and was never afraid of the sea, died yesterday at the residence of Mr. Peter Murphy on Long wharf, after a long illness. The funeral took place this afternoon from St. Joseph's Church.

BISHOP POTTER NEAR DEATH.

Still Conscious but Takes Little Nourishment and Continues to Grow Weaker.

With all his relatives who are in this country assembled in the house at Cooperstown, N. Y., where he lies ill, Bishop Henry C. Potter was in a condition today which led his friends to believe the end was not far distant. The bishop experienced a fairly comfortable night, but this morning was desperately weak and his strength seemed to be slowly ebbing. Precautions have been taken to suppress all unnecessary noise on the Fourth in Cooperstown.

During the night he was able to take a little nourishment, but continued to grow weaker. Both physicians remained at his bedside during the night, and the members of the family remained within call.

The first bulletin issued by his physicians was as follows: Bishop Potter's condition is no worse than last evening. He has passed a comfortable night and is in good spirits, though very weak."

Bishop Potter's condition at noon was unchanged from this morning. During the forenoon he took some nourishment, but slept the greater part of the time. When awakened he was calm and cheerful. He is showing wonderful vitality.

FAIR FOR ST. MARY'S ORPHANAGE.

A fair and lawn party for the benefit of St. Mary's Orphanage will be held at the house and on the grounds of Mr. James Gordon Bennet, directly opposite the Casino, on the afternoon of Thursday, July 23. The Orphanage is one of the three charities of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Rhode Island and is supported almost entirely by voluntary contributions. It receives children from all parts of the state, regardless of creed, giving them every care and attention. At present, however, the institution is entirely out of funds and its 60 children are depending upon the proceeds of this sale for their maintenance during the next three months.

Mrs. Eugene Sturtevant, Mrs. William Grosvenor and Miss Elizabeth L. Hatton are the Newport members of the board of managers of the Orphanage, but many others are interested in making this fair a successful and delightful occasion.

ARTICLES MADE BY THE BLIND.

At the sale of articles made by the blind of this state there will be a large variety of aprons, bags, baskets, both of reed and raffia, as well as knitted sweaters, shawls, and infants' wear. There will also be towels, holders, and many other useful and fancy articles.

As this is the first time an affair of this kind has been held in Newport, it will bear the stamp of novelty. It is an outgrowth of the teaching of the adult blind at their homes, a work which has been carried on by the state since 1904. This work is under the direction of the State Board of Education, by whom two women are employed to visit the blind at their homes, and teach them to do such things as are possible without sight.

The object of this sale is to make a market for the work of the blind, and the money thus derived will go to those who consign the goods. It is in charge of the two state teachers, Miss French and Miss Kimball. A high standard of work has been striven for.

TO VISIT THE Y. M. C. A. CAMP.

The Young Men's Christian Association boys' camp on the Pettaquamscutt river will probably have a number of visitors tomorrow. The largest number will go by the 9 o'clock ferry for Jamestown, and arriving at Slocumdorsum will have a pleasant walk of about a mile and a half through the woods to the river, where the boys will take them across in boats. There will be no conveyances available. As the camp provides only for the boys, it will be essential for the visitors to supply themselves with luncheon.

As we close on SATURDAY, JULY 4th, at 9 A. M., we would suggest that People get their supplies on Friday, July 3.

TO WORK SIX DAYS A WEEK.

Southern Pacific Shops from Louisiana to California to Resume.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 2.—Announcement of a general resumption of a six-days-a-week working schedule for the Southern Pacific railway shops between here and San Francisco was made here yesterday by Thornwell Fay, general manager of the Texas & Louisiana lines of the company. The resumption will occur next week.

WILL NOT GO TO ENGLAND.

Cambridge Cannot Row Harvard Crew This Season.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—It has been definitely decided that the Harvard 'Varsity crew which defeated Yale will not go to England during the present summer. The receipt of a cablegram yesterday by Robert F. Herrick, chairman of the graduate rowing committee at Harvard, from Rudolph C. Lehmann, the English coach, ended all hopes of a trip to England by the crimson oarsmen. Mr. Lehmann in his cablegram said: "Cambridge, having to row in Olympic regatta, is regretfully compelled to decline further race this season."

It has been decided, however, to send Coach James Wray to England to study the methods of the crews competing in the Olympic regatta and other races there this summer.

CAMBRIDGE COACH OBJECTS.

Crew Willing to Row Harvard Day After Olympic Races.

HENLEY, July 3.—The latest efforts to bring about a race between crews representing Harvard University and Cambridge, England, after the Olympic regatta, have met a fate similar to all previous efforts to this end, namely, failure. Mr. Stuart, the Cambridge coach, without whom the Cambridge crew will not row, is strongly opposed to making any arrangement which would necessitate keeping the crew in training a day longer than they will have to train for the Olympic races. Mr. Stuart said today that after the Olympic contest his crew will have had enough racing for one year. Most of the members of the Cambridge crew are willing to row Harvard over the Olympic course at Henley the day after the Olympic races, but the opposition of Stuart probably will put an end to the negotiations.

LEAVE TODAY FOR WASHINGTON

Jacob Sleeper and Lieutenant Ruggles Reach Santiago, Cuba.

SANTIAGO, Cuba., July 3.—The personnel of the American legation at Caracas, Venezuela—Jacob Sleeper, charge d'affaires, and Lieutenant Francis A. Ruggles, military attache—arrived here today from Venezuela, on board American gunboat Marietta. Speaking of the situation in Venezuela, Mr. Sleeper said today that President Castro treated the presence of bubonic plague at La Guayra and Caracas as a joke.

Mr. Sleeper and Lieutenant Ruggles will leave here today for Washington.

CANADA'S GUEST SIX DAYS.

Wales Will Place Wreathes on Statue and Monument July 24.

QUEBEC, July 3.—Canada will entertain her royal guest, the Prince of Wales, for six days beginning July 22, while celebrating the ter-centenary of the momentous battle between the French and British on the Plains of Abraham, behind the old citadel of Quebec. July 24 the battlefield will be dedicated. It will be made the occasion for a great military pageant, and the Prince of Wales has announced his intention of placing a wreath on the statue of Wolfe and on the monument "Aux Braves" on that day.

PORTSMOUTH.

Literary Entertainment Provided for Children's Night at the Local Grange.

(Regular correspondence of the News.)

Children's night at the Portsmouth Grange was observed Thursday evening by an entertaining literary program, ending with a feast. The committee—Mr. I. L. Sherman, Mr. William R. Anthony, Mrs. Eliza P. C. Anthony and Mrs. Annie E. Sherman had taken great care to make the affair a success and their labors were amply rewarded. Flags were arranged on the walls in the shape of fans and the platform was bordered with jars of sweet peas and nasturtiums set closely together, banked with wild white clematis and green vines. On the corners were nests of clematis, which was also used on the piano and walls; jardinieres contained the red rambler roses and palms.

The hall was well filled, the program opening with a piano solo, "The Tell Aret Sally," by Harry Papola; recitation, "Sunflowers," Edmund White; piano solo, Isabelle Wetmore; song, "The Hymns of the Old Church Choir," Miss Louise Chase; song, "To Be Rear Lullaby," Victoria Yeaw, accompanist, Mrs. Belle Tallman; piano solo, "Spanish Dance," Alice Murphy; song, "The Jolly Four," Everett and Elizabeth Bailey, Norman [illegible] and Jack Simmons; recitation, "McLeman's Advice," Thurston Sherman; piano solo, "The Mocking Bird," Edna McLane.

A competition on [illegible] was given by [illegible] "The Child [illegible]" Harold Peckham, who gave [illegible] "Our National Reel [illegible] "Sunrise," Avon M. A quiet home wedding took place on Osborn street, Fall River, when Miss Bertha M. Faulkner was married to Charles A. Bowen, both of that city, by Rev. Chauncey H. Hodgett, rector of St. John's Church. The ring service was used. The bride's dress was white lace. There were no attendants. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. William H. Faulkner of New Bedford, formerly of this town.

Miss Emma Picking has been guest of Mrs. Alphonse David this week.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN RAILROADS

[J. O. Fagin, in Atlantic.]

Of course, figures and tables in regard to efficiency of service cannot always be taken at their face value, and yet the conclusions one is sometimes compelled to draw from them are altogether too significant to be lightly dismissed from the public mind.

For example, in the year 1906, a total of 1,269,000,000 passengers were carried on British railroads on 27,000 miles of track, against 800,000,000 passengers carried on American railroads on a mileage of 200,000. Generally speaking, collisions and derailments form quite a reliable standard from which to make comparisons in regard to efficiency of service. It must also be remembered that the chances for accidents are naturally increased with increase of traffic and consequent multiplication of train movements. One might reasonably expect, therefore, to find the density of conditions in Great Britain reflected in a startling list of fatalities, as compared with the United States. Yet if we take the year 1906 to illustrate our theories and anticipated conclusions, we find there were 13,455 collisions and derailments in this country, and only 239 in Great Britain. In the same year 146 passengers were killed and 6,000 injured in the United States, against 58 passengers killed and 631 injured in Great Britain. The number of employes killed and injured in train accidents was respectively 13 and 140 in Great Britain, against 879 and 7,153 in this country.

WAGE SCHEDULE RESTORED.

Georgia Southern Railway Employes' Cut Done Away With.

MACAN, Ga., July 3.—An order was received yesterday at the local office of the Georgia Southern & Florida railroad, restoring the schedule of wages in effect before the general reduction of 10 per cent was made last February. At that time a cut was made in the salary of all employes receiving more than $50 a month.

BERLIN OPERA HOUSE ON FIRE.

Blaze From a Plumber's Furnace Destroys Part of the Roof.

BERLIN, July 3.—Fire broke out in the Royal Opera House this afternoon, having caught from a plumber's furnace used in the fourth gallery. The roof of the old structure was soon blazing, but the firemen extinguished the flames after a part of the roof had been destroyed. While the damage will amount to but a few thousand dollars, it is possible that the opening of the opera season, set for August 16, will be delayed.

Immense crowds gathered in Unter den Linden and patrols of mounted police were required to disperse them and keep the people moving.

AIDED BY WINCHESTER ENGINE.

Threatening Fire in Woburn's Business Section Finally Subdued.

WOBURN, Mass., July 3.—The Cummings building, situated in the lower part of the business section of this city, was destroyed by a fire early today, which threatened much surrounding property during the early stages, but was finally controlled with but little damage outside the building in which it started. The loss to Mr. Cummings, the owner of the building, was $15,000, and it is estimated that a like sum will cover the damage to the Wet Wash Laundry Company, which occupied the two lower floors, and that sustained by the proprietor of a storage business on the two upper floors. Fitzgerald & Rooney, furniture dealers, sustained a slight loss by damage to goods stored in the building. An engine sent from Winchester helped the local fire department.

$5,000,000 FOR INSTITUTIONS.

Practically Entire Estate Left for Deformed Children and Aged.

CHICAGO, July 3.—A despatch to the Tribune from Cleveland, Ohio, says: The will of Benjamin Rose, who died suddenly in London Sunday, was filed in probate court yesterday. Relatives say that practically the entire estate of $5,000,000 is left for the founding of institutions for the aged and for deformed children. The buildings are to be erected on the Benjamin Rose estate on Lake Shore boulevard.

Can Mothers Drink Grain-O?

Yes, with untold benefit.

Being made from solid grain it is nourishment in a highly concentrated form, and contains just the elements to keep the health in the best possible condition.

Stop drinking coffee for two weeks and drink GRAIN-O in its place. Then note how the years seem to fall away from you. How young you feel.

Note also that the haggard look has left your face, and the new brightness in your eyes.

Get a package from your grocer to-day and begin to renew your health.

GRAIN-O looks and tastes like fine old Mocha and Java coffee, but costs only half as much.

MUMFORD SCHOOL CONTRACTS

Awards Made for General Construction and Other Work.

Captain Scott Retired and Inspector Griffith and Patrolman Tobin Promoted.

The Board of Aldermen held its weekly meeting Thursday evening, when the bids for the construction of the Mumford School were opened. It was found that the lowest bidders had given figures which brought the cost within the amount on hand and the contracts for the work were awarded. Alexander Booth receives the general construction, at $37,285; P. F. Conroy the heating and ventilation, at $5,123, the James Openshaw Company the plumbing, at $3,110, and Scannevin & Potter the electric work, at $1,454, a total of $45,951.

Captain David I. Scott, of the police force, at his request, was placed on the retired list July 3 and Inspector Allen C. Griffith was appointed and confirmed as captain on his retirement. Officer John S. Tobin was appointed and confirmed as inspector of police, on the promotion of Inspector Griffith.

Bids were received for the city treasurer's $60,000 note, to be issued this month, and the rate was low. There was some talk over the bill of Miss Ethel Cozzens for making copies of the tax list and it was decided that the committee on printing of the Representative Council had no authority to order a second copy of the list made, there being no appropriation made for such work, and that part of her bill was referred to the Representative Council, under the provisions of the charter.

Mayor Clarke presided and all the members except Alderman Anthony, who was out of town, were present. There were also present a number of contractors interested in the figures on the new schoolhouse.

The first matter taken up was the bids on the school. Mr. Boyle said that, as the lowest might exceed the amount available, and as a protection to the bidders, he moved that the lowest figures be ascertained without disclosing the names of the bidders, and if the amount available is less than the lowest bids the board could refer the matter to the Representative Council, and no one would know what the several contractors had bid on the present plans. This he thought was due the bidders.

Mayor Clarke said there were bids on construction, on heating and ventilation, on plumbing and on electric work. He was asked how much money is available, and said between $45,000 and $46,000. It was suggested that he open the bids, numbering them, and that the figures be announced but not the names of the bidders. This was done, and when the bids had all been opened it was found that the sum of the lowest was $45,951. He said $53,-703.07 was available, of which $3,300 had been expended for land, leaving $50,403.06. About $5,000 was estimated for furniture, leaving $45,403.07. This seemed to be enough on the figures given. Mayor Clarke said the dog fund would add something to this.

On motion of Mr. Boyle, the lowest bid for the construction was passed to the members of the board for inspection, and after it had been inspected there was some talk about a bond, which it was said would be exacted of the successful bidders. Mr. Boyle then asked to have the names of the other lowest bidders read and this was done.

When the bid on heating was read it was noticed that Mr. Conroy did not mention gas piping. Mr. Boyle and Mr. Cottrell had read the specifications, and could find no mention of gas pipe in the specifications for heating and ventilation. Architect Darling also looked them over, and said they were not in the copy before the board. The gas piping was a minor thing; he thought $40 would cover it. Mr. Boyle said $40 would not buy much gas pipe, and Mr. Darling said there were only six lights in the building. A pipe man present said he thought $40 would do the work.

The bid on construction was then read and there was inquiry as to whether it covered everything not covered by the other bids, and Mr. Darling said it did. It was according to the specifications, which covered everything not in the other contracts.

Then there was talk about the bonds to be required. No mention had been made in the specifications or advertisement about bonds, but Mayor Clarke said the board would be negligent if it did not require a bond. The bond for the general contractor was then fixed at $15,000. Mr. Darling said he had given bonds in 50 per cent of the contract price. The bond was fixed with regard to the next lowest bidder. After it was fixed it was voted to award the contract for construction to Alexander Booth, the lowest bidder, at his bid of $37,285, when he deposits a satisfactory bond in the sum of $15,000 with the city treasurer.

The contract for heating and ventilation was awarded to Philip F. Conroy, at his bid of $5,123, when he deposits a satisfactory bond for $1,000 with the city treasurer.

The contract for plumbing was awarded to the James Openshaw Company, at $3,110, when it deposits a satisfactory bond for $500 with the city treasurer.

The contract for electric wiring was awarded to Scannevin & Potter, at $1,454, when they deposit a satisfactory bond for $200 with the city treasurer.

On motion of Mr. Boyle the names of all the other bidders, with the amounts of their bids, were then read. They were as follows:

Construction.
R. W. Curry,	$74,357
Kerr & Beeson,	$56,915
Keeler & Smith,	$60,900
M. A. McCormick,	$74,690
Alexander Nicol,	$44,890
Heating and Ventilation.
Barker Bros. & Co., for heating,	$5,544
for gas piping,	$225
Newport Foundry & Machine Company, for heating only,	$7,021.55
Clarke & Briggs,	$5,648
J. J. Lynch & Co.,	$5,267
Thomas B. Connolly,	$4,500
Plumbing.
Robert Haire,	$2,217
Kerr & Beeson,	$2,625
P. J. Murphy & Co.,	$2,431
Thomas B. Connolly,	$2,918
Sullivan Bros.,	$2,900
Electric Work.
J. D. Dickson,	$1,596.74
Barker Bros. & Co.,	$2,587

Mr. Shepley suggested that Mr. Darling be appointed to supervise the work, and Mr. Boyle said that as architect he was supposed to do so and no action was necessary. Mayor Clarke asked Mr. Darling if he so understood it and he said he did; that he was to supervise the work.

G. A. Brangazio was granted a renewal of a peddler's license, and J. H. Fish, J. A. Cushenery and Michael O'Neil renewals of pool table licenses. Nine fireworks licenses were granted.

On recommendation of the chief of police N. Dannin was given leave to withdraw his application for an assistant junk license.

Pay rolls were approved as follows: Streets and highways, for Thames Street pavement, $133.38; fire department, $457.77; police, $742.67; salaries, $194.63; public buildings, $11.54.

Mayor Clarke was authorized to take $600 of the Fourth of July appropriation to pay the prizes in cash.

Mayor Clarke reported on the bill of Ethel Cozzens, for $180, for making copies of the tax book, that the Representative Council had provided that the tax collector should pay for all clerical services in his office, but that the making of a copy of the tax book was not included in this. The work is done annually and paid for from the incidentals. This year, by order of the committee on printing the City Documents, another copy had been made for the tax book. The cost of this was $60. It took eleven weeks to make the copies and the work was well done; the cost was less than 20 cents a page.

Mr. Boyle asked what authority the committee on printing had to order a copy made when it had no money to pay for the work. Mayor Clarke said it had no right. If this copy had not been made it would have delayed the printing of the tax book. The city clerk said it would have delayed it some time, as an extra copy would need to be made later. Mr. Boyle said the committee on printing had assumed an authority which it did not possess when it ordered work done for which no appropriation had been made, and no appropriation had been made for making this second copy. The Representative Council is the only body which can provide for the payment of that part of the bill. He accepted Mayor Clarke's report on the bill and said it should be paid, but the board had no authority to pay it. He moved that $120 for the first copy be paid and the bill for $60 for the second copy be sent back, to be made into two bills, one to be paid from the incidental fund and one to go to the Council.

Two communications were received from Captain David I. Scott of the police force. One thanked the board for his promotion to the position of captain, and the other asked that, after 31 years' service, he be placed on the retired list July 3. His request was granted and he goes on the retired list July 3.

Mayor Clarke then announced the appointment of Inspector Allen C. Griffith to be captain, on the retirement of Captain Scott, and the appointment was confirmed. He then announced the appointment of Officer John S. Tobin to be inspector, on the promotion of Mr. Griffith, and this was confirmed.

The following bids were received for the $60,000 note which the city treasurer is to issue this month: Loring, Tolman & Tupper, 3.15 per cent discount; Bond & Goodwin, 3.24 per cent; Newport Trust Company, for Brown Bros. & Co., 3.10 per cent; George Mixter, 3.16 per cent; Blake Bros. & Co., 3.09 per cent, plus $1; William A. Read & Co., 3.17 per cent. The bid of Blake Bros. & Co. was accepted.

Mr. Boyle called attention to the fact that Mayor Clarke had not appointed a committee to look into the fitness of the emergency hospital for use as a tuberculosis home, and the mayor thereupon appointed Aldermen Kingman and Cottrell.

Mr. Shepley presented a plat of the proposed parkway near Morton Park, suggested to the Park Commission by Mr. Powel. On motion of Mr. Boyle the board gave an invitation to Mr. Powel to appear before the board at its meeting next Monday, and explain his plans and tell the board in a general way what it hoped to do and to give a general idea of the parkway.

Mr. Kingman said complaints had been made that boatsmen tied their boats to the Hawthorne Street pier, to the exclusion of others. He was asked what the caretakers were doing, and said they said there is no rule about the matter. The board said that if one was necessary they could make one. Instead, however, Mr. Kingman was appointed a committee of one to investigate and give orders to have such practice discontinued.

At 9:24 the board adjourned. After the adjournment the mayor notified the members of the board that they were expected to report on the Fourth at 9:30 a. m., to review the procession.

REVOLUTIONISTS NOT BANDITS.

Mexican Publisher Calls Them Patriots, Fighting for the Right.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 3.—Thomas Sarabia, publisher of La Reforma Liberta Justin, the official journal of the local branch of the Mexican revolutionary Junta, which has suspended publication because none of the printers in the city have cared to run the risk of violating the neutrality laws with Mexico, sought an interview with Governor Campbell yesterday to protest against the Mexican revolutionists being regarded as bandits. He insists that they are patriots fighting for right and liberty granted under the constitution, and declares that they will honor American soil. Mr. Sarabia stated that the revolutionary army consists of 600 infantry and 600 cavalry entrenched in a strong position near Las Vascas, and that at the proper time they will descend upon that city and capture it, but their by the concentration of Mexican troops at that point. He said, also, that the revolutionists might change their plans and spring a surprise on the Mexican government without notice.

PROMPT ACTION DEMANDED.

Las Vegas Conference Shows Mexico Condition Is Serious.

DEL RIO, Texas, July 3.—Developments in a conference held at Las Vacas, Mexico, yesterday, between Colonel Alberto Dorantes, commanding the Mexican forces; Captain Aguirre of the customs office, District Judge Arredono; United States District Attorney Boynton, Marshall Holte, Captain D. Conrad, Third cavalry, U. S. A.; T. T. Ellsworth, American consul; C. P. Diaz of Mexico, and A. R. Dowe, collector of customs at Eagle Pass, show the condition to be serious, and one which demands prompt action on the part of the Mexican government.

Following the conference Colonel Dorantes admitted that the situation has been serious, but said he thought the forces of the revolutionists had been broken. The only trouble to be expected now, he believes, is from small bands traveling over the state. These bands are being pursued by soldiers.

District Attorney Boynton after the conference said that all matters pertaining to the uprising along the border have been investigated, and the two governments will co-operate in an endeavor to bring those guilty to justice.

TEXANS DID WHAT THEY COULD.

State Department Looking into Mexico Border Situation.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—State Department officials are making every effort to learn the facts connected with the border situation, in order to be prepared to answer the complaint which is expected to be filed by Ambassador Creel as soon as he arrives in Washington next week, to the effect that some of the Texas officials have not lived up to the requirements of the neutrality laws. The department believes the Texans have actually done as much as they could in restraining the departure of revolutionists across the border.

JAPAN CABINET RESIGNS TOMORROW

Saionji Takes Initiative, and Others Follow.

Nominal Reason Ill Health; Actual, Attack on Policy.

TOKIO, July 3.—It is expected that the cabinet will resign tomorrow morning. The Associated Press was informed today that the premier, Marquis Saionji, decided some days ago to hand in his resignation. He requested the acquiescence of the members of his cabinet, each one of whom handed him his resignation, and all the resignations will be given to the emperor in the morning.

The nominal reason for Marquis Saionji's resignation is ill health. The actual reason is understood to be the recent attack made by Marquis Inloye, secretary of the home department, upon the future financial policy of Marquis Saionji. This includes retrenchment in the army and navy, the postponement of public works, a demand for a sinking fund, and the yearly repayment of loans.

Marquis Katsura, former premier, probably will succeed Saionji, although Admiral Count Yamamoto, former minister of marine, is a strong candidate for the premiership. The best opinion in well-informed circles, however, gives this position to Marquis Katsura, in which event Count Komura at present Japanese ambassador at London, is almost certain to succeed Count Hayashi, the present minister of foreign affairs. Count Hayashi probably will succeed Count Komura at London. It is uncertain who will be given the portfolio of finance; no one is anxious to accept it. There will be no changes in the ministries of marine and war.

The Elder Statesmen will be consulted immediately with regard to the appointment of a premier. In best-informed circles it is declared positively that the general policy of the government will not be changed. The present program of retrenchment will be carried out.

One unknown quantity in the situation is the position the emperor may take. He possibly may decline to accept the resignation, but this is considered extremely unlikely.

SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA 25 YEARS

Limb Peeled and Foot Was Like Raw Flesh—Had to Use Crutches, and Doctors Thought Amputation Necessary — Montreal Woman Writes of Cure Seven Years Ago.

BELIEVES LIFE SAVED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, 'Try them if you like, but I do not think they will do any good.' At this time my leg was peeled from the knee, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh, and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bottle of Cuticura Pills. After the first two treatments the swelling went down, and in two months my leg was cured and the new skin came on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use it for his own patients. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Ointment, and five bottles of Resolvent, and I have now been cured over seven years, and but for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I have lots of grandchildren, and they are frequent users of Cuticura, and I always recommend it to the many people whom my business brings to my house every day. Mrs. Jean-Baptiste Renaud, clairvoyant, 277, Mentana St., Montreal, Que., Feb. 20, 1907."

NEW YORK LETTER.

The Demand of the Metropolis for Enlarged Boundaries.

Chemical Bank Declines Government Deposits—Celebrated Case of Brian Boru—A New Art Swindle.

[Correspondence of The News.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—Now it is proposed to change Greater New York into Greatest New York by a further extension of the city's limits. In the 10 years since the organization of the greater city its population has grown so rapidly that it has overflowed the limits then created. Much of this increase has gone into New Jersey and has built up an almost solid urban community in the northeastern part of that state, extending for a distance of from 15 to 20 miles from the Manhattan shores. These cities have a population of 1,250,000 or more and commercially form a part of Greater New York, although territorially, of course, they cannot be added to it on account of the conflict of state boundaries. To the northward, however, there is no such difficulty as this and this is the direction in which the city has been growing more rapidly.

Ten years ago, when the city was enlarged to its present boundaries, the northern part, which forms Bronx Borough, had a population of only 100,000 and contained great stretches of undeveloped land. This has been built up very rapidly and now has more than 400,000 inhabitants. Adjoining New York's northern line the cities of Yonkers, Mount Vernon, and New Rochelle have been growing at a tremendous rate and it is now proposed to include these and the intervening sections of Westchester county in the city, adding 250,000 to its population and bringing the total up to more than 4,500,000, with a prospect of reaching the 5,000,000 mark by 1910. The subject is being agitated particularly by representatives of Bronx Borough, who declare that the Brooklyn and Queens section of the city are favored in public improvements at their expense. Consequently they want to add to their voting strength on the city boards by the creating of a new borough. This addition, if made, would increase the area of the greater city to nearly 400 square miles, but would leave it still only three fifths the size of metropolitan London. While there are many people who hold that New York is already so large as to be an unwieldy municipality, it seems to be inevitable that its limits will soon be extended to take in a considerable addition of territory up the Hudson and along Long Island sound.

One effect of the currency law passed at the recent session of Congress has been to make one of the strongest banks in the country decline government deposits and return those which it has on hand. This is the famous Chemical Bank of this city. The reason for this action is not hostility to the new law, but the fact that it requires banks to pay interest on government deposits. The Chemical pays no interest to depositors and it argued that to make an exception of Uncle Sam would be an unfair discrimination against its other customers.

The Chemical Bank is one of New York's institutions in the same sense as the Brooklyn Bridge or Central Park, and its atmosphere, in spite of the new building which it recently erected, is much more like that of an old world establishment than the typical bustling American banking house. It will not accept deposits indiscriminately and to induce it to take on a new depositor is like obtaining membership in one of the city's exclusive clubs. The sole concession it has ever been known to make is to furnish desk room to its star depositor, Hetty Green, who is reputed to carry the largest cash balance of any bank depositor in the country, running up to four or five millions, and who makes her headquarters in the bank, thereby saving office rent.

The case of Brian Boru threatens to become historic in the legal annals of the country. The Brian Boru referred to is not the celebrated Irish hero, but a terrier of the same nationality belonging to Borough President Bird S. Coler of Brooklyn, who was formerly comptroller of New York and later Democratic candidate for governor. In an evil moment Brian Boru wandered from home and fell into the hands of one of the dog-catchers employed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Mr. Coler, whose actions do not belie his peculiar first name, hastened to the rescue of his pet to be informed that he must pay a fine of $3 and a tax of $2 or else see the redoubtable Brian go the way of many another less highly pedigreed canine into the gas tank.

Mr. Coler, who loves a fight as well as his terrier does, had no other battle on his hands at the moment. He did not so much mind parting with $5 of his hard-earned salary, inasmuch as he is a man of considerable wealth, but he immediately decided that it was unconstitutional for the state to delegate police powers to a private organization such as the "humane society." He thereupon became the champion of [illegible] to the constitutional rights of dogs and their owners. The case has gone as far as the supreme court of the state, but it is likely to be carried through further appeals to the Supreme Court in Washington. Meanwhile the fate of Brian Boru hangs in the balance. If he finally goes [illegible] satisfaction [illegible] may be [illegible]

New York is again excited over the [illegible] trade. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] brought to light

this week, however, in which certain importations are deliberately inventoried at a figure far above their real value, in spite of the additional duty imposed. This is in the importation of foreign pictures and is a new phase of the bogus art scandal in which Uncle Sam is involved as an innocent accomplice.

The importer of an alleged "old master" which cost as much as $50 or $75 when purchased of some unknown European artist, has the invoice made out to show a valuation of $3,000 or $5,000, or whatever figure he may select. He pays a duty of 20 per cent on this estimate and then shows his receipt to the unsuspecting customer, whose bank account is larger than his knowledge of art. Such a proof of worth is accepted as conclusive and the dealer has no difficulty in making 100 per cent profit on his small investment plus as much as he can induce his victim to pay. The game is said to have been worked successfully on a number of guileless millionaires who flatter themselves that they are familiar with most forms of sharp dealing.

LONGACRE.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

[New York Tribune.]

The Fourth of July of last year seems to be much more than a scant year away. We should say it antedated the longest memory of living men. For surely on no other ground which would be creditable or reasonable could we easily explain the present obliviousness to the horrors of that day and to the passionate resolutions which were then made that there should be no more such orgies of racket, arson, mangling and death. Last Fourth of July was indeed less abominably abused than many of its predecessors. Yet it was so bad as to arouse widespread and intense indignation—as widespread and as intense as that which will be felt a fortnight hence at this year's repetition.

For repetition of it there evidently is to be, at least in this community, despite all the remorseful resolutions of a year ago. The thing has indeed begun. The crackle of firecrackers and the vicious snapping of toy pistols are familiar sounds in many parts of the city by night and day. Already, too, there have been reports of casualties, some of them fatal. It is the same old story of yielding to the unworthy fear that if we did not for a time grant free license to make life hideous we should be chargeable with lack of "patriotism"; that if we objected to having sick people tortured and well people made ill we should be looked upon as "killjoys," and that if we professed a dislike to seeing children die of tetanus we should have "no red blood in our veins."

It is an amazing spectacle, which might almost be deemed to disprove our national possession of a sufficient degree of reason to qualify us to learn wisdom from experience. When a building collapses, or a steamboat sinks, or a theatre is burned, and some lives are lost, we do something practical to prevent, at least for a time, a repetition of the disaster. But when worse disaster comes through our celebration of the Fourth of July, we make a little fuss about it for a time, and then do nothing.

THE SMOKE DANGER.

[Hollis Godfrey, in Atlantic.]

The pity of it is that the evils which come from smoke are all preventable. Smoke-consumers exist which have proved their worth. Due care in running fires will do much. No more fuel is required under careful management for complete combustion, which shall be practically smokeless. These statements have been proved over and over again. It is a matter of community supervision, of laws rightly framed, and fearlessly administered. Fortunately inspection is by no means a difficult matter. One city for example, handles that problem by means of a chart holding six pictures of a chimney above a factory, the first of which shows the chimney with no smoke, the second with a light smoke issuing, the other four showing greater and blacker volumes. The first conditions are passable. The last are dangerous. The inspector takes a photograph of any questionable chimney and compares it with the standard pictures. The comparison tells the story. The factory is pronounced "passed," or the owner is warned to immediately conform to the regulations under penalty of the law.

CLAIRVOYANT & PALMIST

PROF. ELMER,

The most remarkable Clairvoyant and palmist of modern times. So marvelous and dumbfounding are his readings of human life that people exclaim: "Truly the days of the ancient prophets have returned." He calls you by name, tells object of your visit, gives names, dates, locations, etc., concerning any one or anything. He develops readings, reunites the separated, causes a speedy and happy marriage with the one of your choice, removes evil influences, develops personal magnetism and the power to control and influence others, even though miles away. His information is clear and accurate on business, love, marriage, divorce, changes, courtship, health, lawsuits, travel, property, family difficulties, etc. His predictions are authentic and his advice reliable. He may be consulted by any one in trouble or doubt of any character concerning any important matter of life. His information and advice are clear, concise and to the point. See and [illegible] 8 A. People who have never tried a "want ad" to get what they want are often surprised to learn how quickly and easily the want is filled. These little ads in the Daily News cost so little that one to whom they can be of use cannot afford to do without their help. These advertisements, of not more than 25 words, will be set close and inserted once for 25 cents, twice for 35 cents, three times for 45 cents or six times for 75 cents.

OLD COLONY WON.

Rather One-Sided at the Start, But After That the Y. M. C. A. Played Better.

The Old Colony and Young Men's Christian Association base ball teams met in the City League series at the Bath last evening and the former won, 7 to 5. It looked rather one-sided at the start, as Anthony was wild and passed balls and wild pitches—it was hard to tell which—gave the Old Colony three runs, which looked larger and larger as the game progressed. After that disastrous first inning both sides played good ball and though there was some hitting there was not a hit coming or an error when they would count for runs. So it ran until the seventh. The Old Colony had just completed its team, having weeded out the last of the substitutes in the sixth, and then things began and both sides scored, the Y. M. C. A. largely on wild throws and the Old Colony largely on hits.

Sullivan seemed to have a trifle on Anthony in the pitching line and received great support from Hefferman. In fielding the Y. M. C. A seemed to have a little on the Old Colony, but in batting, especially when hits were needed, the Old Colony had it on them. This was especially the case in the ninth, when "Casey came to bat." He was right there and two runs came in. The Y. M. C. A. made theirs in singles and were glad to get them that way, with help from some "dandy" wild throws. There was a big attendance and Morrissey's Drum Corps was there to cheer the hearts of the Old Colony supporters. The score:

Old Colony.

ACROSS THE STREET.

Edward Street Schoolhouse Moved and Old Second Baptist Church Lot Filled.

The Edward Street schoolhouse was moved across Farewell street this morning and is now on the old Second Baptist Church lot, the property of Mr. Henry C. Anthony, but the city having the right of occupation until the new building is ready the old house was moved across in advance of the school, and as it had nothing but a cement floor the fixtures were supported on beams placed through the windows. The schoolhouse stands on the corner of Farewell and North Baptist streets and the toilet house is next north. Mr. Anthony has filled the lot. On the north, on Farewell street, is the old Farewell Street school; on the corner the Edward Street school, and next to it on North Baptist street he has a new house under construction.

Mover Preece, who is moving the schoolhouse, stated that his father moved it from its old site, on what is now Burnside avenue, 39 years ago, to Edward street.

A MIDDLETOWN ASSAULT.

This afternoon Town Sergeant Ward of Middletown brought to the court house John and Joe Silvia of Middletown, for assault on Marianne Mercial on Olyphant lane June 29. The daughter of Mrs. Mercial had been cared for since early infancy by a family on the lane. The girl is now 14 years old and Monday the woman, accompanied by a lawyer, went to the house where she was living and took her away. A number of men followed, and before she reached the cars assaulted her and took away the child. It is claimed that defendants used a pitchfork and a club, but no serious damage was done. Defendants pleaded not guilty before Acting Judge Kelley and were released on bail for their appearance July 10.

FIVE WOMEN AND LITTLE BOY DEAD

Many Girls Badly Hurt in Jumping from Windows.

Panic Follows Fireworks Explosion in Cleveland Store.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 3.—Six persons—five women and a five-year-old boy—are known to be dead, while possibly a score of others were more or less seriously injured as the result of an explosion of fireworks in the S. Kresge five and ten cent store, on Ontario street, today. A panic among the hundreds of clerks and customers followed the explosion. Smoke filled the four upper floors of the store.

Two of the dead girls were working at the fireworks counter on the ground floor. This counter was situated in the centre of the store, and was box shaped. The girls were inside the enclosure. When the explosion occurred they could not escape. The girls dropped to the floor, and sought safety under the counter. The flying rockets and crackers were exploding about them. Customers about the counter had an opportunity to escape. No one stopped to save the girls. They burned to death in this trap.

It was not known until nearly two hours after the fire that any lives had been lost. This was made known when the firemen began searching the building after the flames were conquered. The charred bodies of the girls with the little boy were found on the first floor and in the basement.

The fire was started when one of the clerks was demonstrating one of the pieces of fireworks. A spark ignited the other pieces. The force of the explosion startled those on the other floors, and a panic ensed. Smoke and flames were drawn up the stairways by a draft, and this added to the panic. A rush was made by the panic-stricken clerks and shoppers for the stairways and windows, and many were trampled upon. Others stumbled down the stairways. Others jumped from the second and third story windows. Many who jumped escaped injury by being caught in the nets held by the firemen.

About a score of girls, all clerks in the store, jumped from upper story windows. Some of them sustained broken limbs, while others escaped with cuts and bruises.

Henry Miller, an employe of the store, as soon as he discovered the fire ran hastily to the top floor, and then went down the fire escape in the rear. At each floor Miller stopped and opened the windows, calling on the girls to come out. He pulled many of the girls through the windows to the fire escapes, and in that way at least 75, he says, escaped.

A young boy who lost his life in the fire was identified later as James Parker. He was in the store with his mother when the explosion occurred. The mother escaped uninjured.

None of the bodies of the dead girls has thus far been identified. They were evidently smothered, as the bodies were not badly burned.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE.

Fire at the Training Station Injures Supplies in the Paymaster's Storeroom—Several Men Burned.

The fire at the Training Station Wednesday evening proved to be of more consequence than was at first reported. Considerable damage was done in the paymaster's storeroom in the way of spoiling stores of clothing, blankets, mattresses and other necessaries kept in Barracks C for issuance. The fire is supposed to have caught from an electric light wire, and while the principle damage was done to the contents of the storeroom the timbers of the floor above were badly charred.

The high pressure service of the Station proved efficient, for when the fire hose was stretched after the alarm was turned in the streams from the hydrants proved to be all that was necessary and soon had telling effect on the flames, so that there was no need of taking out the steamer. Several of the men at the Station received bad burns in fighting the fire and one was overcome by the smoke, which was very dense. At the beginning it looked as though the fire would be a serious one for the new barracks.

NOT LIKE A WINTER DAY.

There have been hotter days this year—days when the mercury soared higher and the wind was not so cooling—but about every one agrees that this is anything but a winter day during a blizzard, and that it is easier to perspire today than on any other day this season. The thermometer ranged up to 74 this morning, but this afternoon it took a little boost and at places umbled up to 80, which is some three degrees lower than the same thermometer has been before this season. But that General Humidity which is in town today explains why it feels so hot.

NO HARD AND FAST AGREEMENT.

Taft Conferences May Have Determined Chairmanship Tentatively.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Renewed interest in the matter of the selection of a Republican national chairman was aroused today by the presence in Washington of W. L. Ward of New York and Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota. They are the members of the Republican national committee from their states, and both are members of the sub-committee appointed to confer with Judge Taft on the question of the national chairman. They were no more communicative today than they were last night on their arrival in this city.

While a tentative determination of the matter may have been reached in the course of the numerous conferences which Judge Taft has held with friends since he returned, it is quite certain that no hard and fast agreement has been made.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Judge Taft and his family will leave for Hot Springs, Va. There he expects to rest and recuperate, so far as may be possible.

Judge Taft was hard at work again today on his accumulated correspondence, with the determination to dispose of the last of it before he left Washington this afternoon for the Virginia Hot Springs. He had arranged to meet Mr. Ward and Mr. Kellogg of the sub-committee of the Republican committee during the day, but, so far as known, had made no appointment to see Mr. Hitchcock. Mr. Ward takes the ground that the sub-committee, after all, might as well dispose of the question of the selection of a chairman for the national committee at the present moment, indicating that they are willing to accept at once any person named by Secretary Taft, and avoid a special trip to Hot Springs.

BRINGS OUT CHEERING.

Ghost of Free Silver Arises at Meeting of Lincoln Bryan Club.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 3.—The ghost of free silver arose at a meeting of the local Bryan Club last night, when D. C. Dewitt and W. S. Fairman of Pennsylvania spoke on the era white issue to a chorus of cheers. Speech making over, Mr. Dewitt attempted to have a straw vote held on the Vice Presidential problem, but the vote was not taken, as the club did not wish to appear active in the matter.

It was decided to appoint a committee to have in charge the demonstration in Lincoln "when the news of Bryan's nomination reaches the city next week."

Yesterday's Dress Parade—Band Marching Down the Line.

ADMIRAL LUCE HONORED.

Reviews Naval Brigade at Training Station Dress Parade.

Presents Papers to Apprentice Petty Officers Receiving First Appointments.

Rear Admiral Stephen B. Luce, U. S. N. (retired), must have felt highly honored yesterday afternoon, when a dress parade was given at the Naval Training Station in his honor. The veteran officer carried himself with that military bearing and dignity which has always been his strong characteristic, along with those qualifications which stamp him as a gentleman of the old school. With 83 years to bear him down, he looked as spruce and stepped off as lively as many an officer who has not yet reached the retiring age. To inspect ten companies drawn up in line, and then to stand and witness such a program as was given, is taxing for an officer of far fewer years. What was shown for the benefit of the "father of the Training Station" certainly opened the eyes of those citizens who availed themselves of the opportunity to witness the display, but the admiral was not amazed; he has been too active in following the development of the Station and the methods of training to be taken entirely by surprise.

Punctuality is one of the necessities of a man in the service and was a watchword of the admiral all through his honored active career. Hence when the hour for the parade was set at 2:30 o'clock the formalities were to begin at that time, and the naval brigade was marching to the parade ground at 2:15 o'clock. As usual, Boatswain Spicer was in command, supported by a full brigade staff. The line was marched across the field and then back again, to bring it into brigade front formation facing the flagstaff. In the meantime perhaps 300 civilians had gathered along the review line, together with quite a party of officially invited guests in front of Commander Fullam's quarters.

The parade formed, Admiral Luce, accompanied by Commander Fullam, Lieutenant Commander Phelps and Lieutenant Commander Sandoz, stepped out to the reviewing point and the brigade presented arms. Open ranks was next in order, and with the brigade standing at attention and Boatswain Spicer joining the reviewing party this party went back and forth along the line, inspecting the men. The reviewing party returning to the reviewing point, the command broke into columns of companies and marched past in review, and while returning to their original positions formed company squares as provided in the street riot drill.

The brigade front having been again formed, and the entire line having advanced [illegible] until each man had the required space for the setting-up drill, the command "Ground arms" was given and the men went through the drill, which is dependent upon so much to develop them and keep them in good physical condition. Then came the semaphore drill by the entire brigade, in which the boys used their arms instead of the wooden arms which are used [illegible] on shipboard for signalling. Next was [illegible] the setting-up drill with rifles, which ended the work of the [illegible] before the drill [illegible] Station band [illegible] and taken position [illegible] the flagstaff, at [illegible] the boys went through the [illegible].

The brigade front [illegible] re-established, the apprentice petty officers who were about to receive their first appointments were [illegible] to the front and center, where they were given their papers at the hands of Admiral Luce. Each boy as his name was called [illegible] which he was [illegible] and proceeding to a point directly in front of the admiral took his paper from the admiral's hand [illegible] same time saluting with his right hand.

It may have seemed a slight proceeding to [illegible] uninitiated, and yet one could not help noticing that with the boys it was no small matter, demanding all the dignity on their part which they could muster. It is destined to be an important event in their lives, for they have now taken the first step, which may mean if they continue that they may some day become chief warrant officers, or even commissioned officers. Careful attention to duty and hard study will be the requirements on which they must depend to rise. In future years, when they shall have risen, it will be with pride that they will look back to the day they received those appointments at the hand of the venerable "father of the Station," without which perhaps they never would have had the opportunity to rise so high. It was probably before any of these boys were born that Admiral Luce last handed out such appointments, and hence the honor of receiving them at his hands is one which few will be able to boast.

When all the papers had been properly distributed Admiral Luce stepped forward and spoke briefly to the boys, advising them to honor their God and their flag and to be faithful in the performance of their duties. The boys returned to their posts in line and the official party stepped back off the field, while the brigade was marched off.

While the brigade of 600 or 700 men had been going through its program, a battalion of 200 or 300 boys from the detention barracks was marched out to the right of the field, and stood in waiting for their turn. Many of these boys had not been at the Station more than three weeks, yet as they marched on no one would have cared to suggest that they looked as though they belonged to the "awkward squad." They were as neatly attired in spotless white as had been the naval brigade and had the swing which suggested that they were no novices. They wheeled into battalion front before the reviewing point, to go through the setting-up drill, with and without arms, the semaphore signals announcing the letters as they moved their arms. Then, with right arm extended, they turned in their positions, pointing each direction as they boxed the compass. They were in command of Chief Master-at-Arms Morrisey.

To read the general outline of the various movements of the afternoon gives but slight conception of the many details connected therewith, but since the ceremonies occupied two hours, during all of which time there was something doing, it is readily to be seen that during that time enough must have been done to demand a wealth of knowledge on the part of each individual to assure that there should be no slip-ups which would mar the proceedings—and there were none.

The apprentices receiving appointments were as follows:

Chief petty officers—T. Kelleym, W. Meyers, R. L. Colbert, J. J. McDade, B. D. Brown, F. H. Prevo, W. H. Houle.

First-class petty officers—J. W. McManus, T. A. Meehin, S. H. Brown, J. Schnake.

Second-class petty officers—C. I. Day, G. A. Sanderson, R. L. Pace.

Third-class petty officers—H. E. Wilson, C. G. Campbell, E. C. Cahoon.

Among interested spectators were Admiral Merrell, Commanding the Narragansett Naval District; Captain Fremont of the Mississippi and officers of the War College class.

It is proposed to hold dress parades at the Station each Thursday afternoon during the summer and a trip to the island is well worth while.

FREEBODY PARK VAUDEVILLE.

The vaudeville bill to be presented at the Freebody Park Theatre for the week beginning next Monday is headed by Billie Burke's new scenic production, "The Last of the Regiment," an episode of the Civil war, the scene being laid on the banks of the Potomac in 1865. The story is told in song, and the company includes Al Cameron and six singers and actors. Tom Waters, who has been seen here in the stellar role in "The Mayor of Laughland," will appear in his specialties, which include a clever planologue. The Princess Champlilla, another feature, is said to be the only genuine Indian in vaudeville, a Choctaw maiden gifted with a remarkable voice and accomplished in vocal and instrumental music; she is assisted by Ed Newell, the cowboy juggler. They also appear in Indian dances and use special scenery.

To please the women and children, Professor Burke's educated dogs, who play melodies upon staff bells, are engaged. The acrobatic feature of the bill will be the Kirsten-Mariette troupe, three women and one man, just from Europe. Carroll and Baker are well known as laugh makers, and the Melnotte Twin Sisters and Clay Smith form a trio of singers and dancers with a specialty said to be different from any yet seen here.

"RUSH" ORDERS COST MORE.

Printer Leech Says Departments Must Pay 25 Per Cent Additional.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—All government departments which obtain supplies from the government printing office, and which secure an immediate filling of the orders by marking the requisitions "Rush," will be forced to pay an additional 25 per cent on such supplies. Public Printer Leech has discovered that it is the tendency of some of the departments to mark all orders "Rush," whether required for immediate use or not. With this custom much overtime work has been made necessary. For such work employes are paid the night rate—an increase of 25 per cent. The printing office, consequently, is the loser.
